Kiski Is Unplugged

Kiski Area Unplugged. . .unique, individual. . .natural. . .wild, crazy. . .

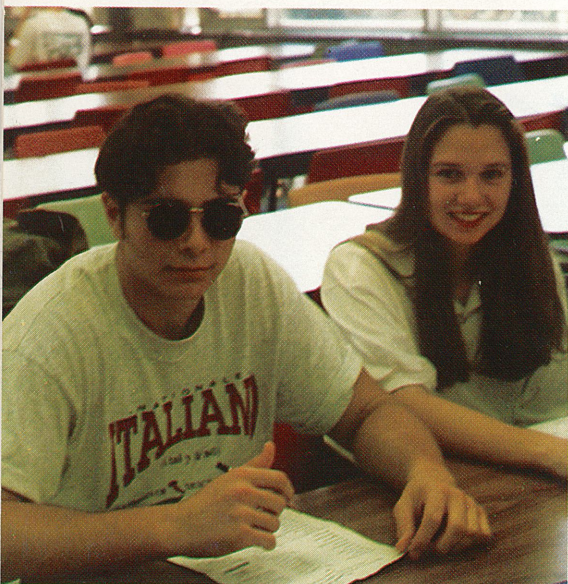

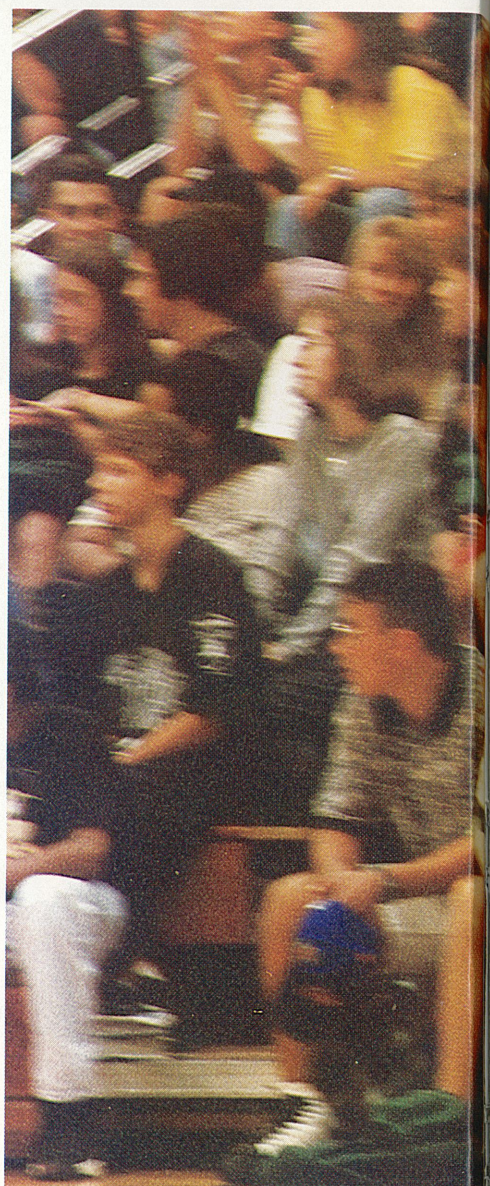

When one looks around the Kiski Area High School campus, many groups of people can be seen doing their own things. Whether the football team is talking about last weekend's game or someone is discussing the latest REM video from MTV, all of the individuality is apparent with a single glance. Our clothing, our attitudes, and our ideas are all different. We have learned to respect the choices of others; we are all living our own lives in the ways that we want.

The yearbook is an important part of the school year, capturing everyone's different ways of smiling in the photographs and all of the different opinions of the student body in the articles and captions. And, when you pass around your yearbook in the spring, all of your friends sign in their unique ways with fancy autographs, crazy cartoon pictures, and wishes for luck and happiness. The yearbook staff picked the theme of Kiski Unplugged for these reasons of representing all of the different people in the high school.

In our own ways, each and every student at the Big K is unique and special. Looking back, we will fondly remember the years of pep rallies, lunchtime discussions over pizza burgers, fire drills, Iowa Tests, bumpy bus rides, ten-minute bells, KAE-TV, freshman & sophomore dances, proms, Channel One, late nights at Davis Field, Key Club vs. Faculty basketball games, Career Days. . .

And, looking back, we will remember all of the faces from the hallways, each one different.

One of the cutest couples on campus, David Hritz and Heather McCutcheon, both seniors, study Calculus every Activity Period in the Lower Cafeteria.

These students wait to catch a piece of cheerleader-thrown candy or a glimpse of a male senior being passed among his friends' hands during one of the Fall Sports Pep Assemblies.

Josh Getchen, although absent for his "Most Unique Dresser" Senior Special photograph, always sports a well-planned attire.

Mrs. Filer keeps a short leash on homeroom 208, but she can't stop Dan Kardos, freshman, from doodling.

Busy with football and basketball, Ryan Booker, freshman, usually doesn't keep his hair this long, but the yearbook staff catches him before football season is in full swing.

What were you doing during your summer vacation? Were you swimming, running, playing your favorite sport, or just plain relaxing? Well, while you were relaxing by the pool or sitting on your couch catching up on the latest soap stories with the thought of school far from your mind, our dedicated yearbook staff members were preparing for the '94-'95 Campus Yearbook. With the business staff selling advertisements to local businesses and the editors discussing new ideas and improvements, the yearbook was already well on its way to being the success it always is.

While the business and production staffs were hard at work behind the scenes, the literary and photography staffs were equally busy filling the pages with colorful photographs and humorous captions, informative articles, and lasting memories of your years at Kiski. The final product couldn't be possible without the support of the student body, faculty, parents, and the yearbook advisor, Mrs. Kim Poleski.

So, when you receive your yearbook and read the articles, admire the photographs, remember just what made it all possible.

Class of

The end of August 1994 arrived quickly this year, but not quickly enough for the 343 members of the Class of 1995. You could see these anxious and super seniors leading the bands, choirs, VICA, student council, and every other organization in the high school. Seniors could also be spotted in the Lower Cafeteria pouring over worksheets, but whether they were Calculus study guides or our Senior Specials ballots, we'll never tell.

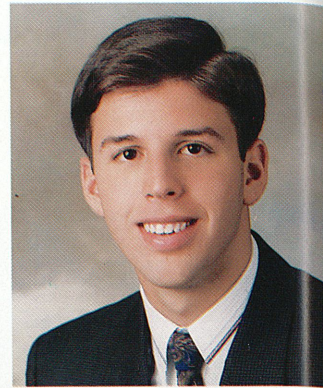

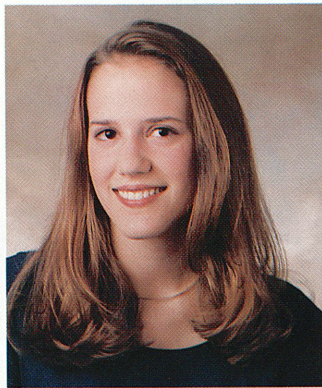

Ninety Five

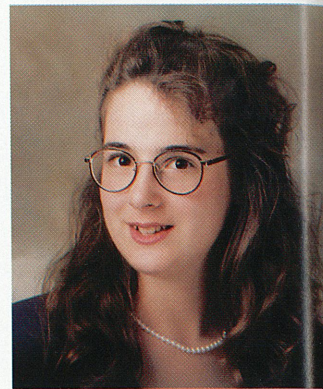

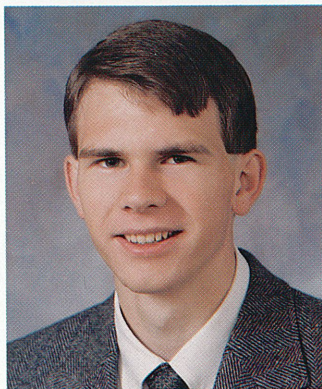

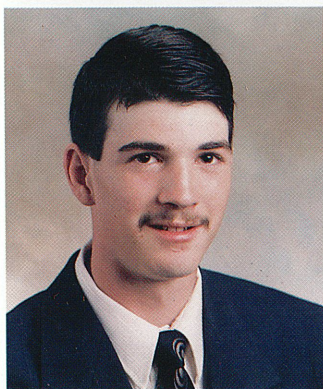

Homecoming and other Fall activities were flying by as we ran around with college applications, begging teachers and counselors for recommendations, harrassing any freshman in our way. We sold magazines in hopes of a wonderful senior class trip, language, and prom. Sales and the entire class were notably led by Jesse Salensky, our class president. As the seniors hit hard by senioritis could report, many of us were struck by the cruel blow that teachers still expected us to do work. The graduating class of 1995 has travelled a long way since kindergarten, and we've had a lot of fun doing it!

Congratulations Class of '95!

The Future Is Today

We are young now, and ready to embark on life's journey. Most of us not knowing which direction to go, or how we are going to get there.

But, we set out never-the-less; fearless, carefree, and zealous in our quest. Our dreams and aspirations are without bounds, the sky is the limit — TODAY — 1995!

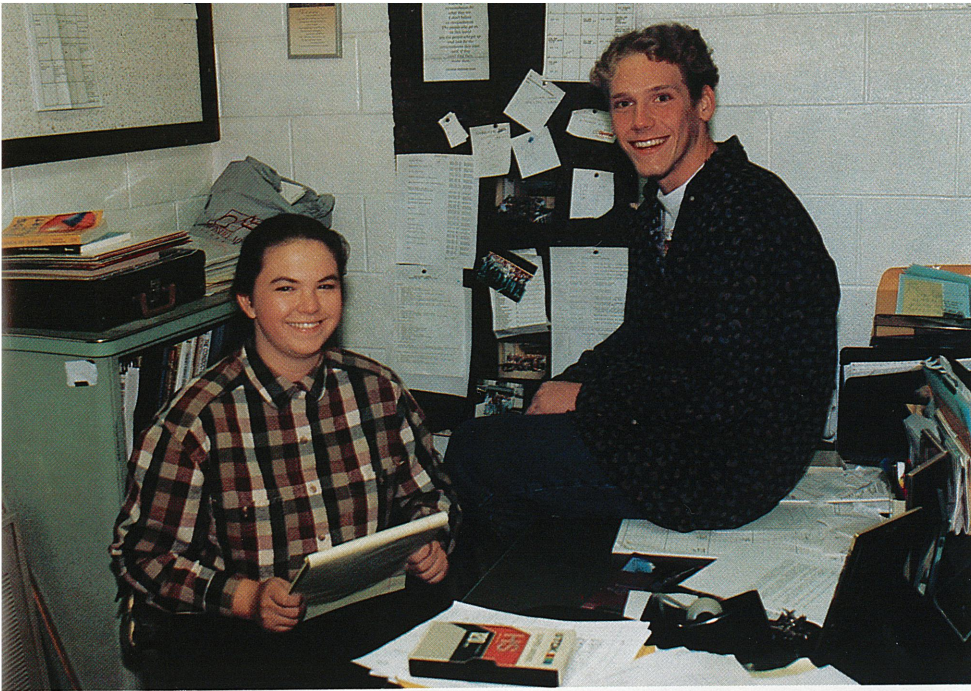

In twenty years or so, we will all have experienced an ample portion of what life has to offer. Success, love, joy, and hope, as well as disappointment, fear, sadness, and failure. Despite our individual differences, we will all have had our share of life's triumphs and tragedies. It is our common bond.

Our roots as the graduating class of 1995-1996 of Wiskin Area High School is a strong and everlasting bond between all of us. Take this opportunity to look ahead to your future, but don't lose the strong friendships which are vital and important to every one of us. For without them we cannot move on. . .

by Elise Simmerman

Most Likely To Succeed: Watch out for Kiski Area grads, Sarah Clemmens and Matt Smith, as they take on the world, finding success in every venture.

Prettiest Eyes: Brandon Faber and Jodi Humbert have one thing in common — their beautiful baby-blues.

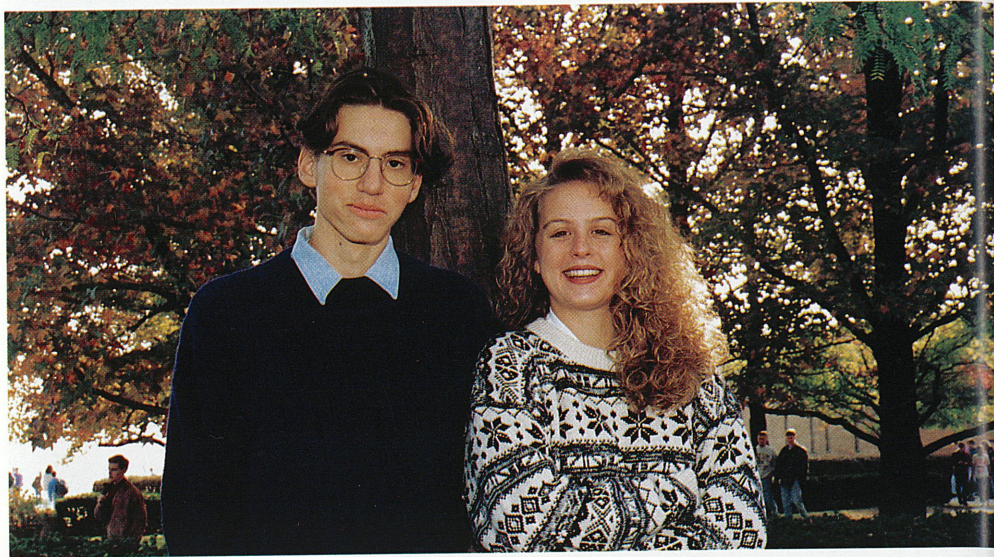

Never mind the pages of Vogue or GQ. . . Just look to Matt Stone and Michelle Butch for the latest fashion news from Kiski's Best Dressed.

Most School Spirit: Tiffany Brzezinski, cheerleader, and Doug Christini, mascot, are the best candidates for keeping Kiski spirit alive.

1995 Senior Specials

"I put him for Most Athletic too."
 "Who did you put for Best Dressed?"
 "She definitely has the Funniest laugh."

Comments like this and many others can be overheard when the Senior Specials ballots are distributed. Voting is an excellent opportunity to gain recognition from their own classmates for their unique qualities. Each senior was given a list with twenty-six categories listed in boy and girl columns. After everyone completes the ballots, the student with the most votes in each category wins. This year the yearbook staff expanded the list of qualities to let even more people in on the fun. So, let's take a look at the class of 1995's Senior Specials!

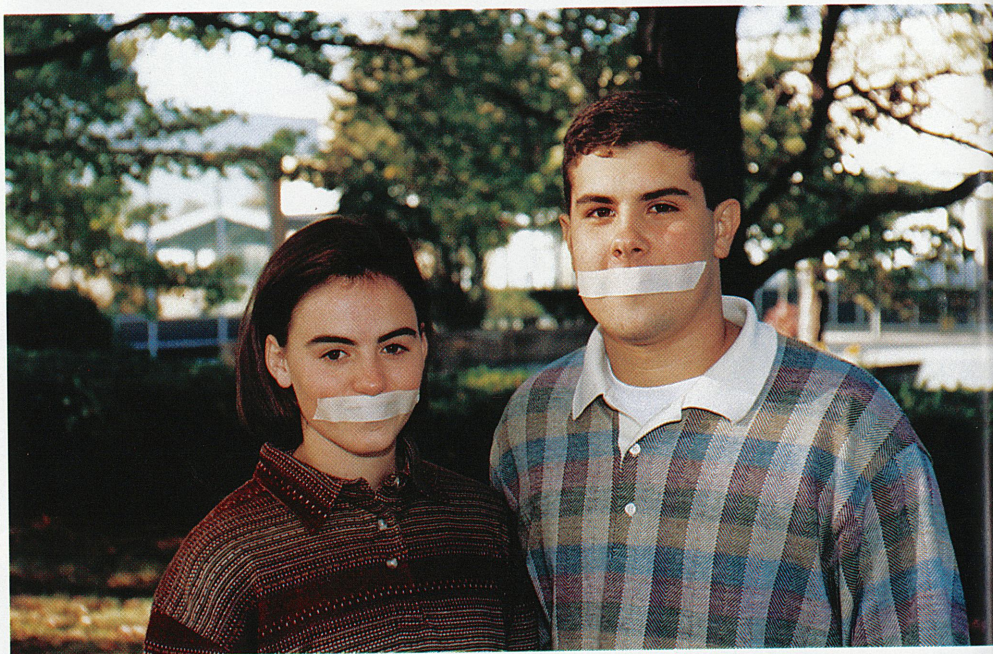

A smile and a wink as they pass you in the hall is just habit for Jesse Salensky and Amanda Grafton, 1995's Friendliest seniors.

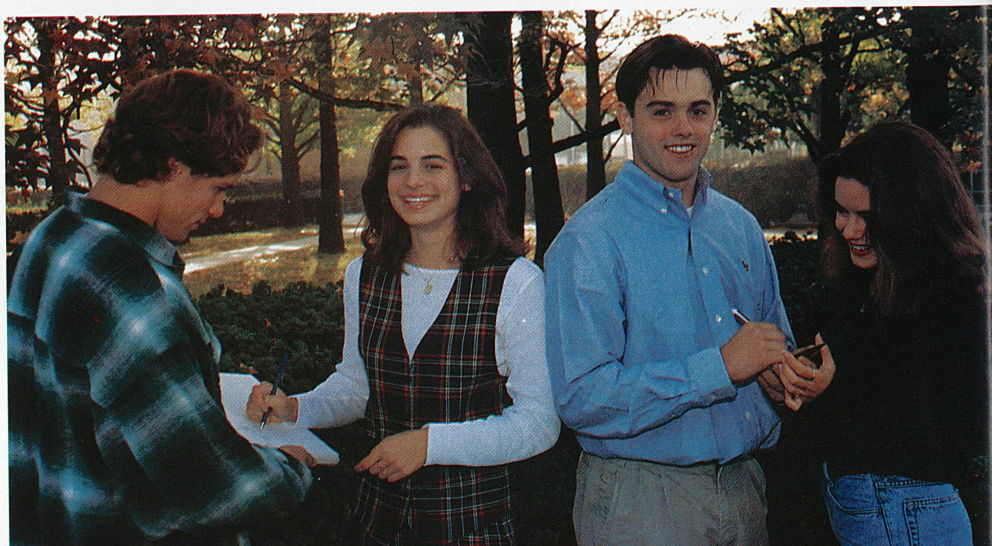

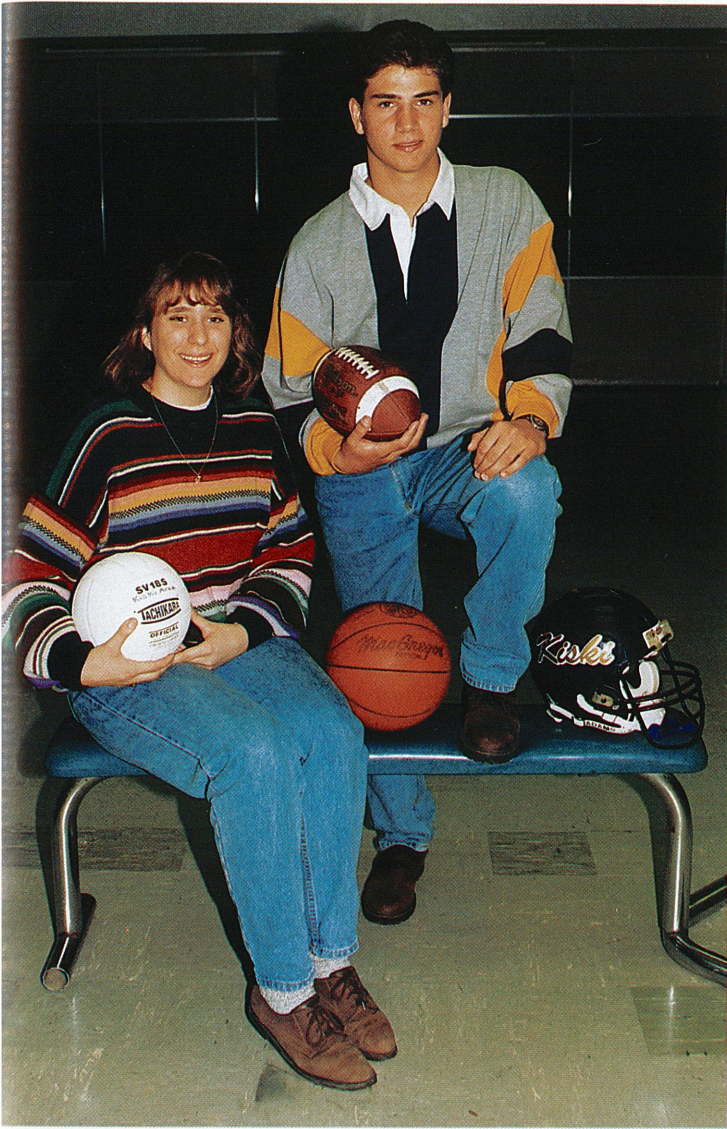

Unique Dresser: Raylene Fox, in striped tights and combat boots, makes a statement without saying a word. (Missing: Josh Getchen)

Most Popular: Lana Gasperini and John Cullen are popular with friends, teachers, and all of the students; maybe days of stardom and signing autographs in their futures.

Most Talkative: Taping their mouths was the only way to keep Eran Flanyak and Joel Rupert quiet long enough to take this picture.

Left: Most Athletic: Kim Ferguson and Jason Clouser both play three sports throughout the school year, each trying to perfect their jumpshots. Below: If you want to have fun, be sure to bring along our two Lives of the Party, Gina Ceraso and Bill Carson.

Above: Most Artistic: Whether sketching a friend's face or simply expressing their emotions, Marcy Macklin and Ethan Galicic give an artistic flair to the senior class. Right: Mike Denison may yell on the football field and Erin McKean can cheer with the best of them, but you can be sure that our quietest seniors don't talk very loudly in class.

Above Right: Best Vocalist: Comfortable with a microphone in hand, Amy Pollak and Scott Uzlik practice daily in chorus class and perform in various choirs, gaining honors all the way. Above: Nicest Hair: Jeremy Albert and Lori Fedusa always keep their terrific tresses in shape.

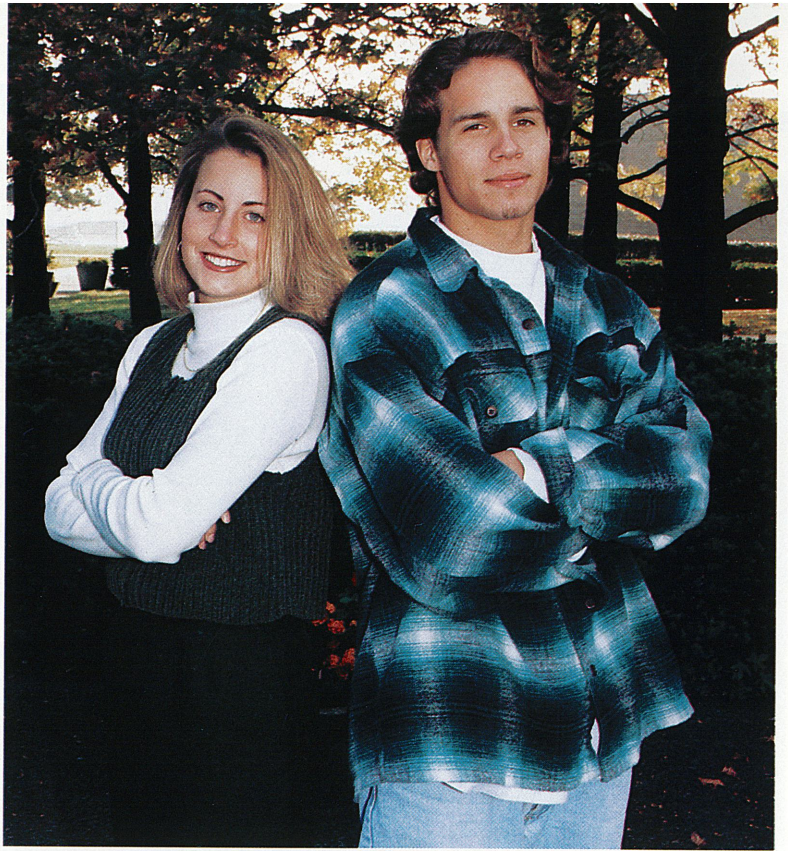

Above: Nick Dasta and Tammy Wolford, our Most Mischvious seniors, are caught in the act. Left: Class Clowns: Even when they are just hanging around, Bill Hunt and Heather Smith are people we can't help but love.

Best Instrumentalist: Jason May and Kristine Hessom bring pride to the g K after every band performance, competition, or football game.

Sexy smiles and "the look" are nothing new to Autumn Proctor and Shane ark, the biggest flirts of the senior class.

Most Attractive: Sara McQuaide and Dana Jackson capture the hearts of KA students with their poise, appearance, and good looks.

95

There's nothing wrong with being trusting; Kristy Ogden and Kelly Gray are Kiski's Most Gullible Seniors.

Absent 9/20/94: Jamie and Bruce

Jamie McCluske and Bruce Corna are well deserving of their titles, Worst Cases of Senioritis. They have been spotted white water rafting and on the slopes of Seven Springs. Who knows where they are today???

Homecoming 1994

On the evening of September twenty-third nineteen hundred and ninety-four, a ceremony was held at Davis Field to honor six special seniors. The six young ladies were nominated by their classmates to be members of the 1994 Homecoming Court. The court was as follows: Lori Fedusa, escorted by Mark Geltz; Lana Gasperini and escort, Jesse Salensky; Erin McKean and Tim Driscoll, escort; Monica Mele with escort, Matt Kepple; Michelle Morganti and Dave Shondelmyer, escort; as well as Lynn Walton and Bill Hunt, escort.

Only one girl could be crowned queen, and Kiski's 1994 Homecoming Queen was Michelle Morganti. Many memories of that night will live in the minds of Michelle and the entire court. Congratulations to everyone for this prestigious achievement!

Michelle after she was crowned the 1994 Homecoming Queen...

The wonderful surprise was apparent on Mr. Morganti's face as Michelle's name was announced.

Dave and Michelle are all smiles at the end of the exciting night.

Top Ten Reasons To Be A Junior

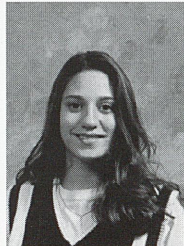

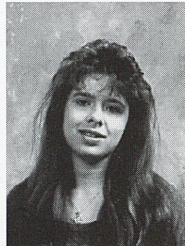

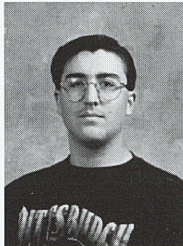

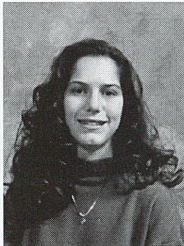

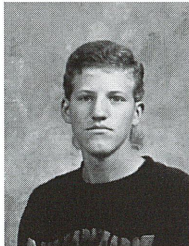

10. The flood of college mail begins. (It makes terrific kindling for those blustery winter evenings)
9. You still don't have to sell magazines. (Like we really will when we're seniors)
8. You get to color pretty maps. (Or not)
7. Journalism is available as an elective. (Who doesn't want to voice their opinions?)
6. You get to sell candy bars. (You can eat them all yourself and make your parents pay for them)
5. You can take the PSAT's. (It is so fun to make pictures on the answer grids)
4. You can take Driver's Ed. (It takes a special person to make the instructor use the passenger's side brake)
3. You can go to the Prom. (If you can find a date without personal hygiene problems)
2. Delicacies from the Cavalier Cafe are available. (More importantly, you get to read the student billboards . . . uh, trays)
1. You're not a freshman!

Sophomores Everyday People

Top Ten Exciting Things The Class of '97 Did As Sophomores

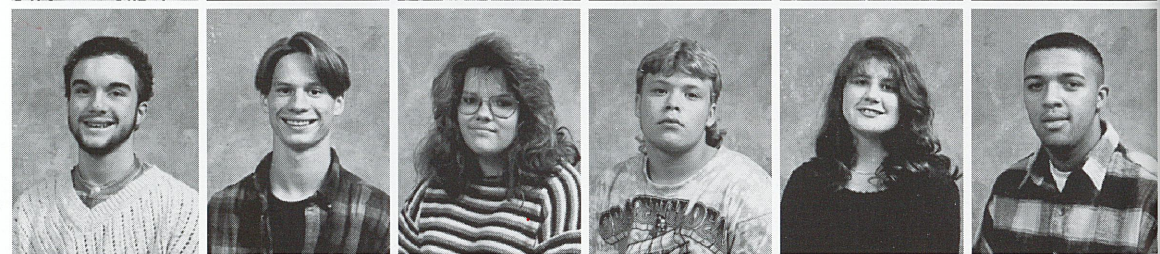

10. When Sweet 16 finally rolled around, we were pleased to the open road.
9. We had the opportunity to try out for elite clubs and activities, such as Mock Trial, Wind Ensemble, and Math team.
8. We decorated the tree outside the Upper Cafeteria for the major holidays: Halloween and Christmas.
7. The sophomores in Gifted History Forum won the Woodstock display competition.
6. Some Sophomores took Foods as an elective and tortured friends without freshly baked cinnamon rolls and cookies.
5. We were allowed to try out for Varsity sports.
4. We learned everything anyone would want to know about American History from the Civil War to the present.
3. We either learned about DNA in Biology or played with "dangerous" chemicals in Chemistry.
2. We tried to scream the loudest during the pep rallies so the cheerleaders would throw us the most candy.
1. We realized that as of next fall, we will only get 8 more report cards, 72 more chances to buy the yearbook staff's doughnuts, and sit through another 2,896 class periods until we graduate.

n Shetron and Mark Endlich, both juniors, apparently find humor in the same things; they spend time outside after their lunch period.

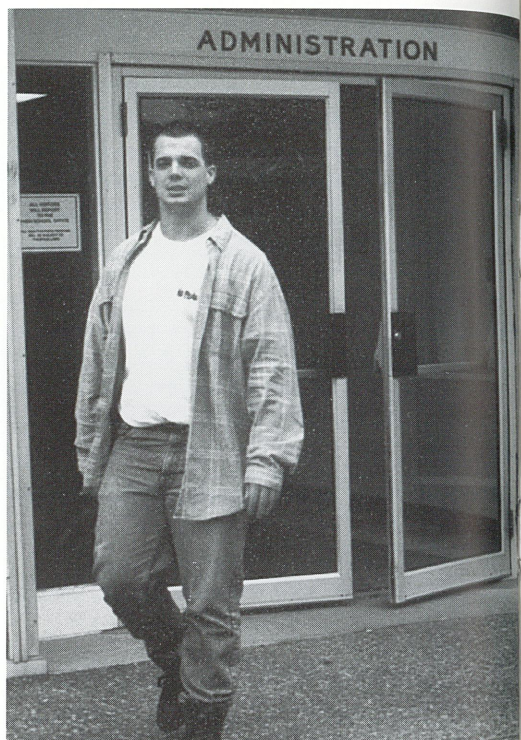

Seniors, Paul Smith, Scott Lehosky, and Bryan Fortuna, spend time in the courtyard after lunch.

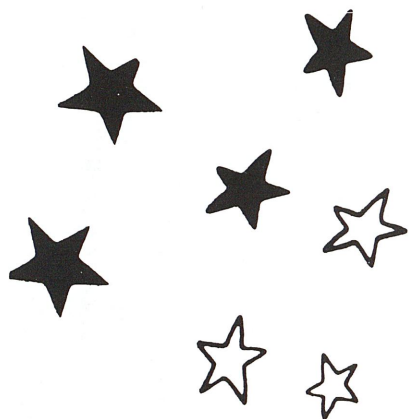

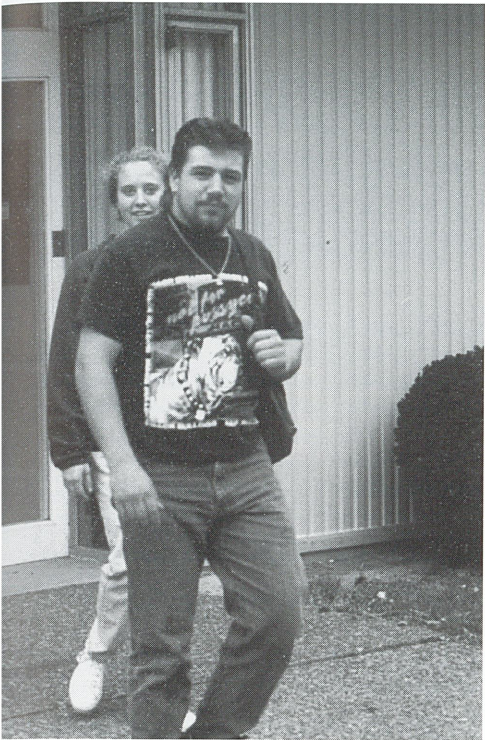

Above: Senior, Matt Shafer, who is very involved with the Environmental Club sponsored by Mr. Lemmon, spends time in the gardens outside of the Administration Building.

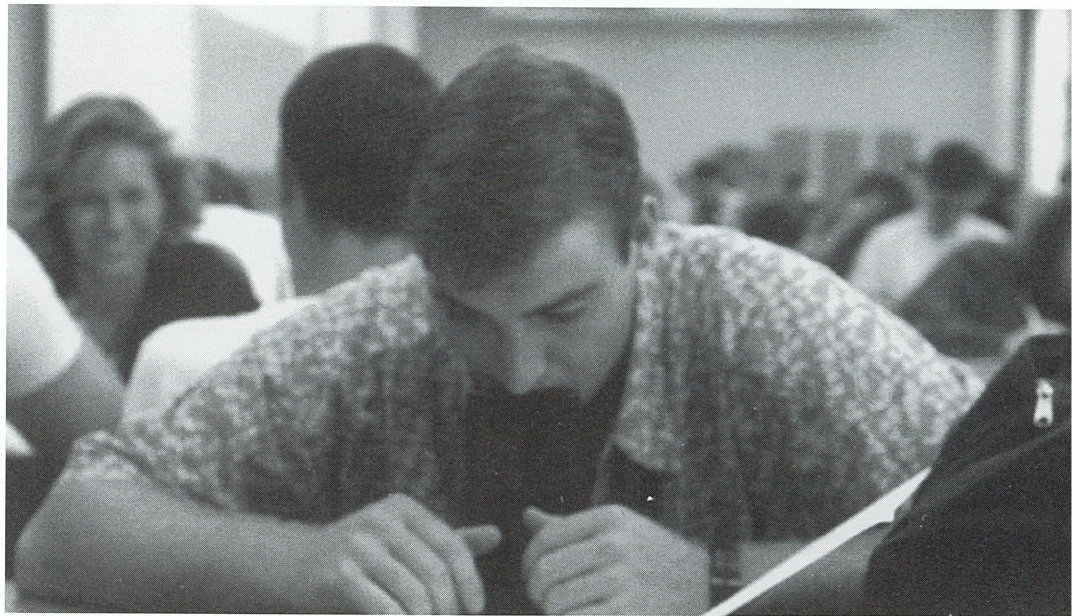

Below: Mike Beckett, junior, signs out of the Home Economics room. How did your pie turn out?

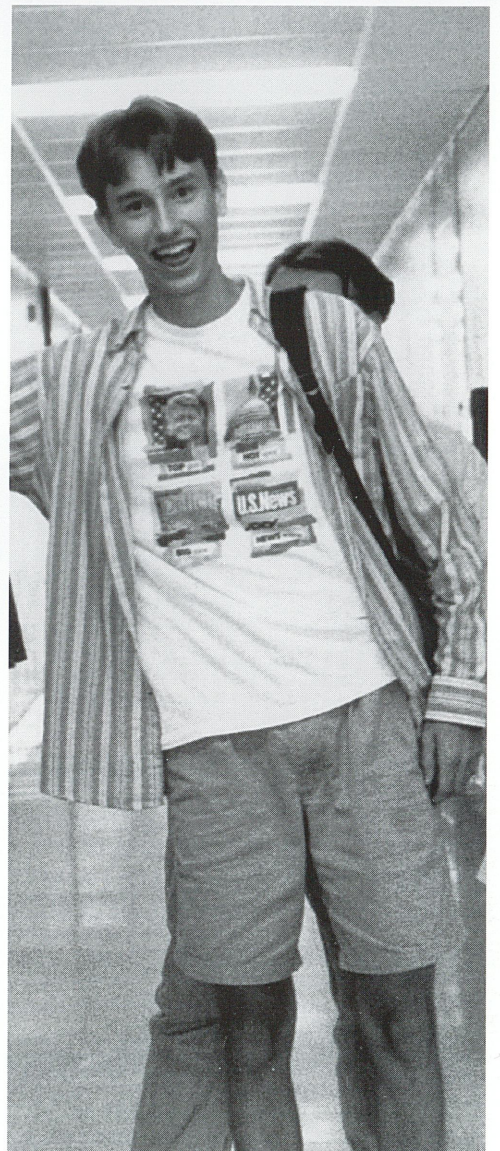

Above: Adam Ferracio and Joe Perfetta, both seniors, go their separate ways outside of the Administration Building, as junior, Jaynee Dykes looks on.

Shane Miller, senior, ponders over his Math homework, using his calculator to it's fullest extent. Does that taste good, Shane?

Right: Matt Collins, senior, seems surprised to see the camera as he ventures down the hall in the 200 building.

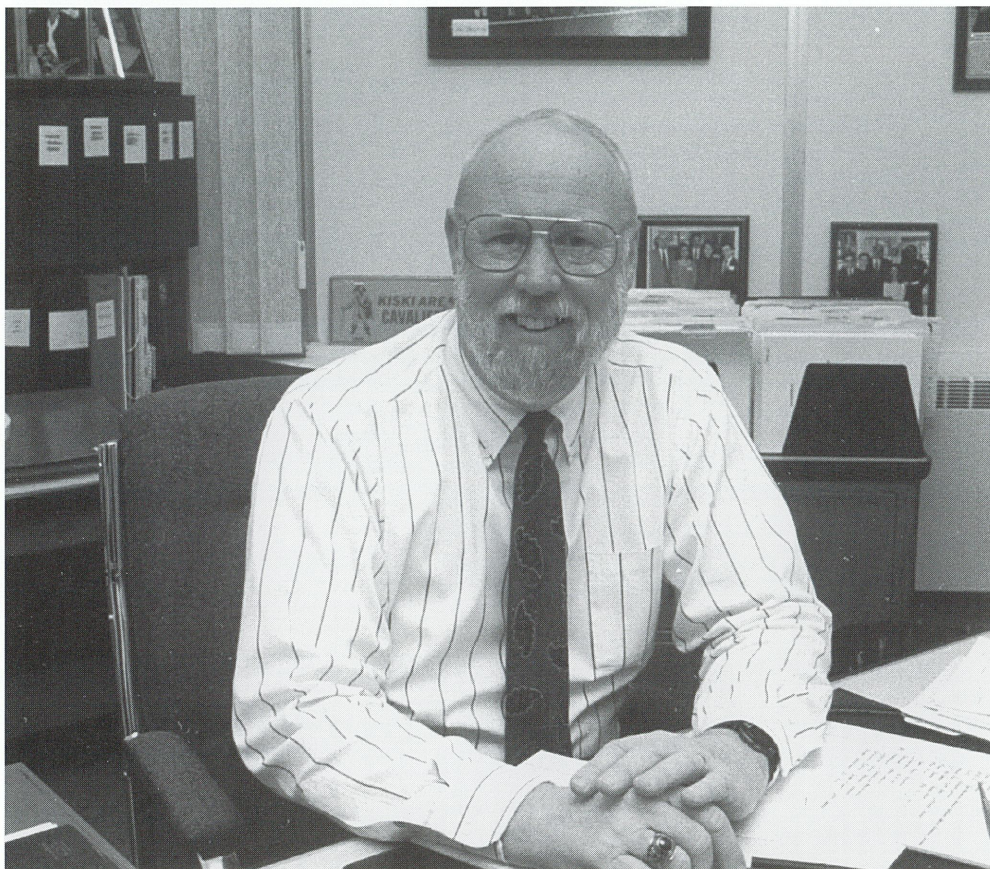

Senior, Bill Hunt, waves hello and smiles pretty. How's it going, Bill?

Teacher of the Year

Mrs. Staney

Mrs. Rita Staney, Teacher of the Year for 1994, considers herself "kind of ordinary" and "nothing special." Mrs. Staney first aspired to be a business administration major and entered that program at Duquesne University after high school. However, she soon realized with a little help from her mother that teaching is her true calling and has been teaching business courses at Kiski Area High School since 1966. That is one decision Mrs. Staney has never regretted. Just like her days as a student at Vandergrift High School, Mrs. Staney still finds the high school environment very exciting because she enjoys working with such a great group of people, especially those within her own department. Mrs. Staney also feels fortunate to be surrounded by such a loving and compassionate faculty and student body. Her main goal as a teacher has nothing to do with student body; rather, it is to equip students to deal with any situation that may arise in their lives. It is not surprising, therefore, that the most rewarding aspect of her career is seeing any of her students, present or former, succeed. Mrs. Staney's students and colleagues undoubtedly feel lucky to have her around, since she is definitely quite extraordinary and something special.

Mr. Greg Balla is always busy: working in the office, teaching his Sociology classes, leading the Gifted History Forum, and making friends with the students.

Mr. Louis Vergari, a science teacher at the Big K, takes a break from his busy day of teaching. What would he do if a student slept in his class?

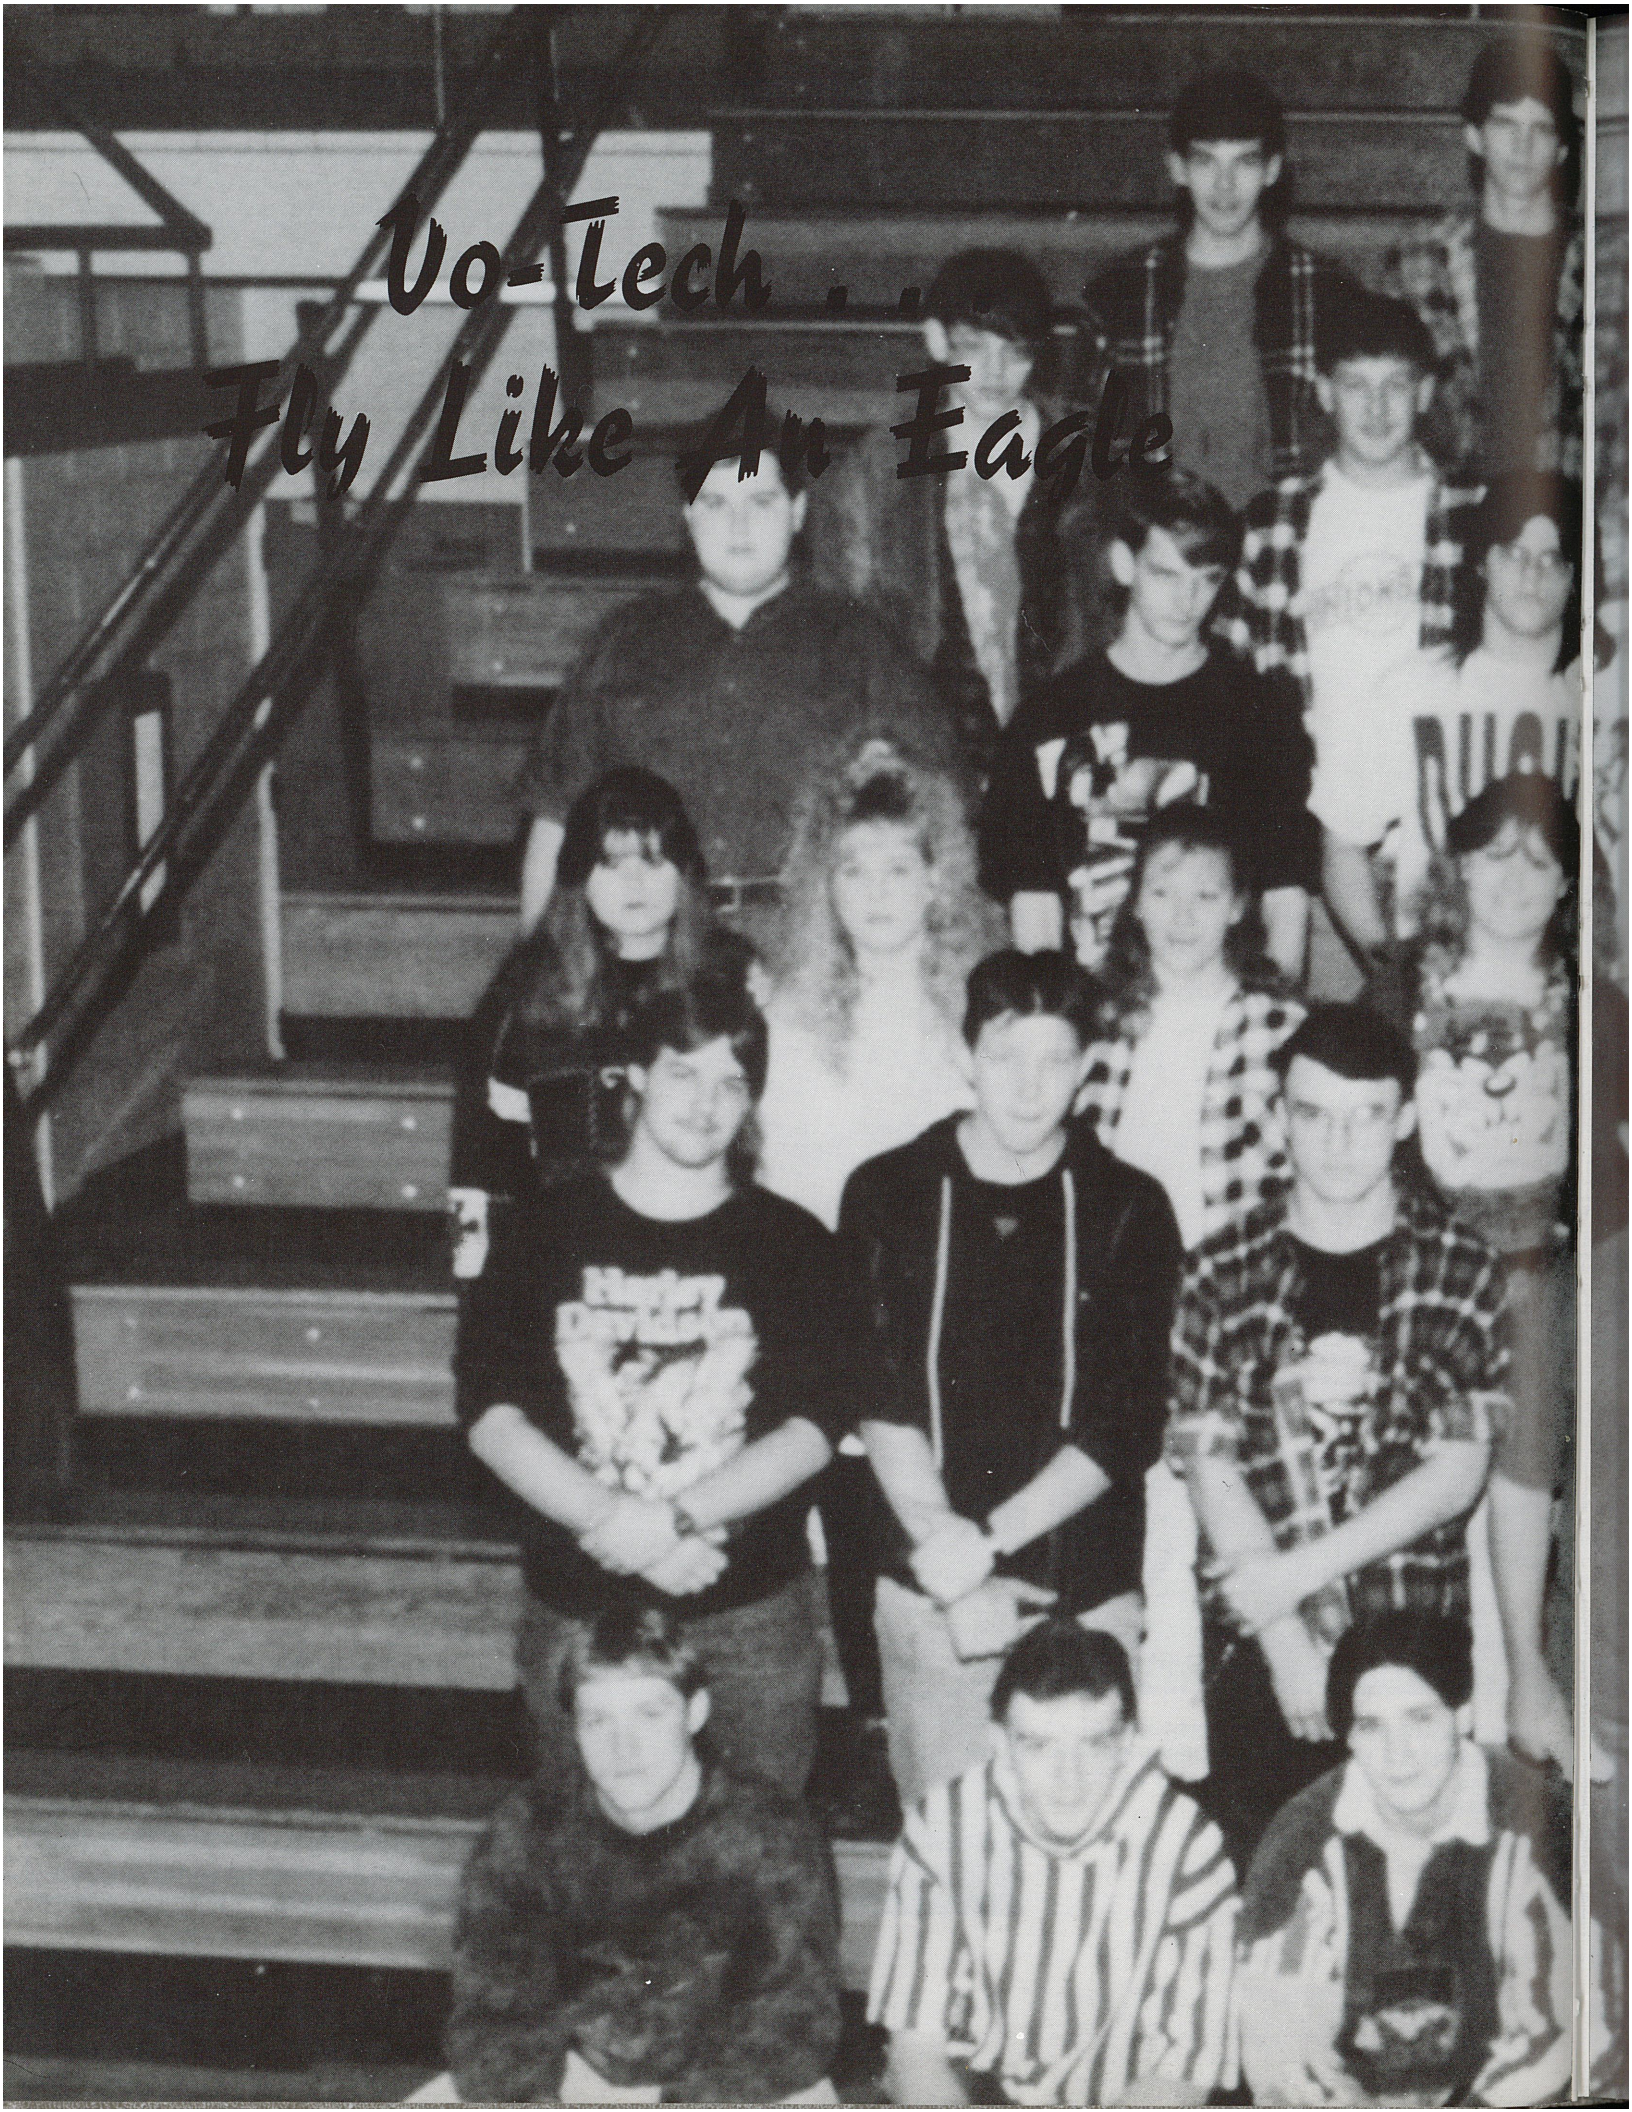

Mr. Tom Toland, the proud Irishman that he is, always decorates room 314 in green and displays the flag of Ireland.

Mr. Larry Kunselman and Dr. John Shaner share a few laughs on the football field. Each, we're sure, is proud of this year's football team.

Mr. George Argyros and daughter, Charis Argyros, are found in the same room. Charis, is it "like father, like daughter" in your family?

The students from Kiski enjoy the beautiful campus of Northern Westmoreland Career and Technology Center. The school is always kept neat and clean.

Dana Adams, senior, seems to enjoy her work. She works diligently to create an exact replica; too bad we didn't get to see the finished piece.

Jennifer Boylestein, senior, and Tina Moore, junior, appear to be having fun at the computer. Wonder if they are working or playing games . . .

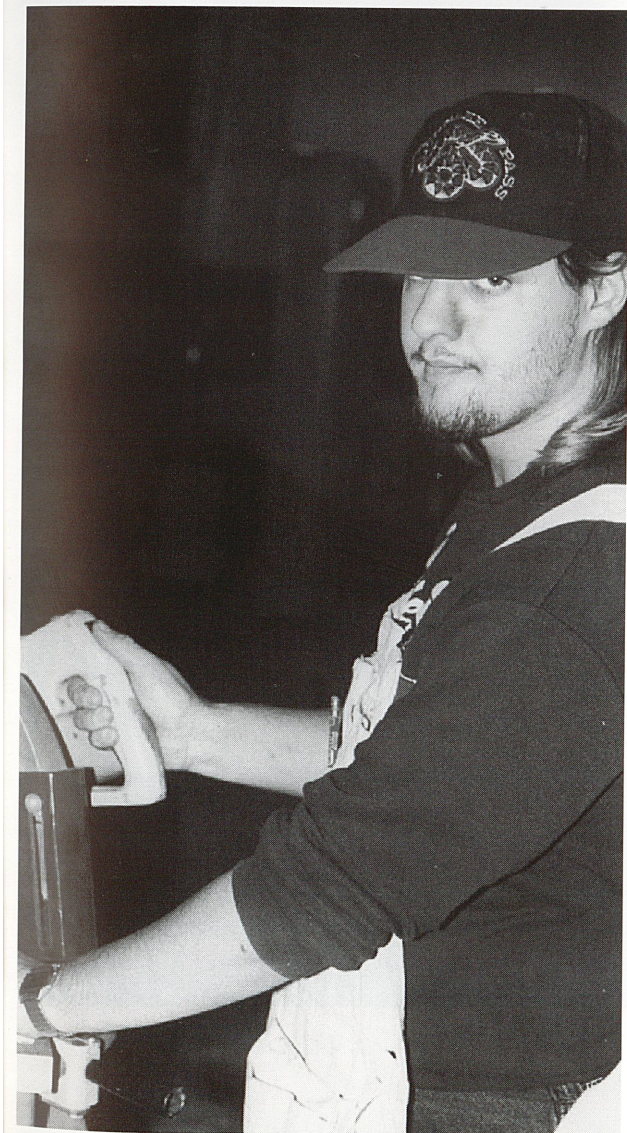

Hey Joe Vento and Jason Misner, what's so funny? You better get back to work before your teacher comes!

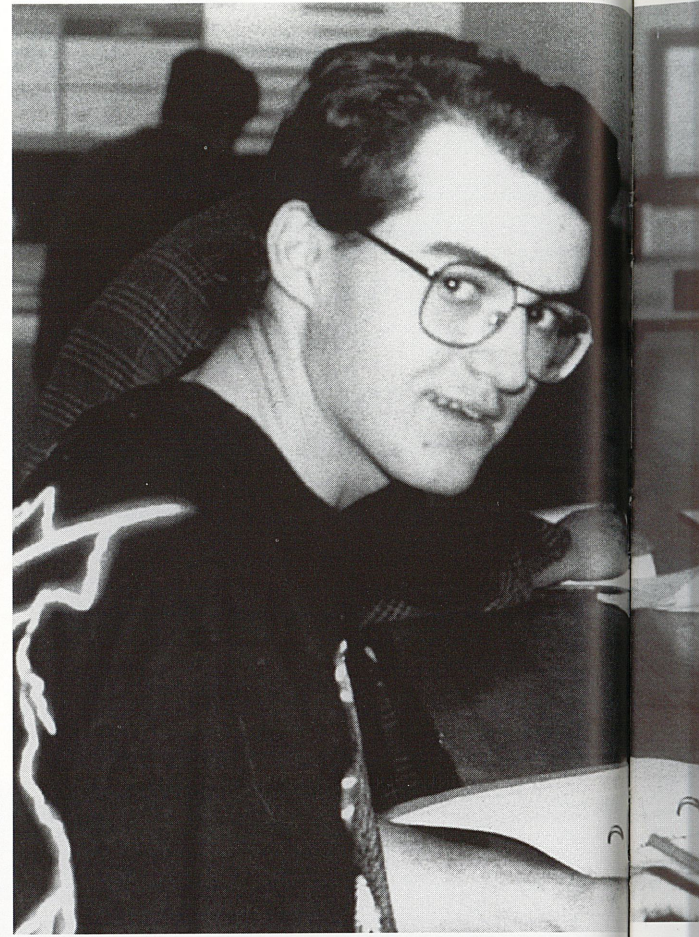

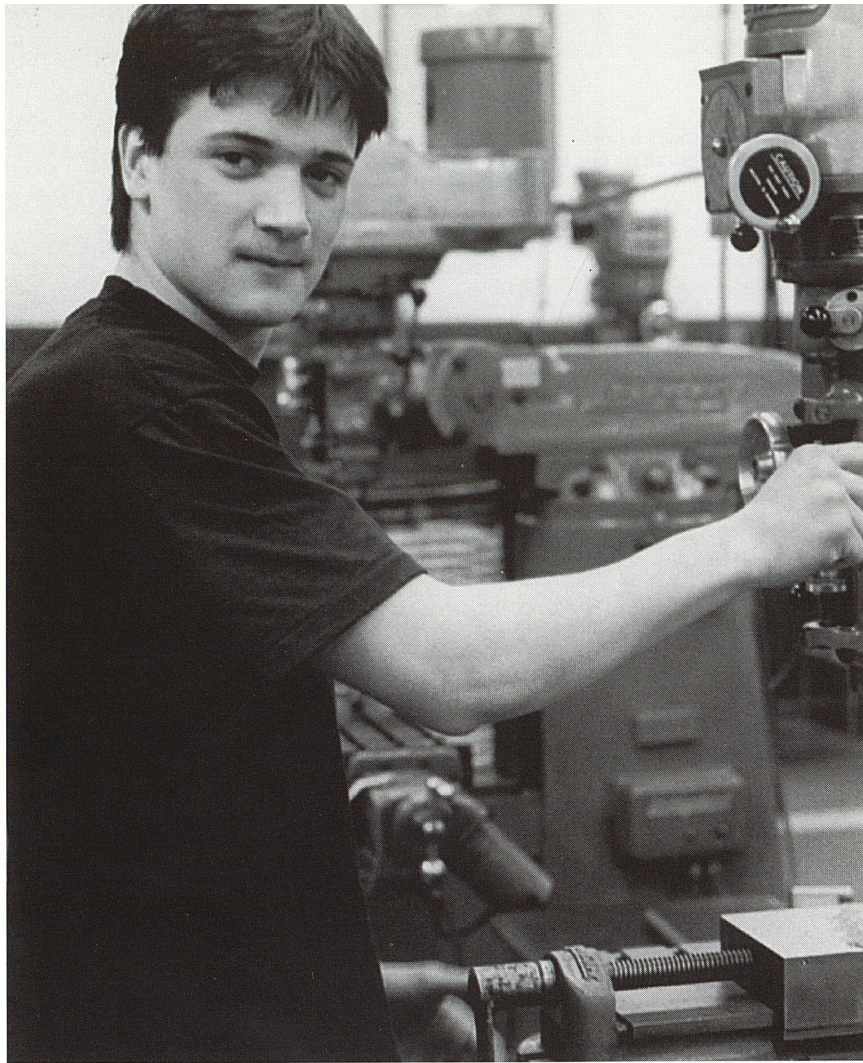

Senior, Calvin Beatty, drills holes when he goes to woodshop. Don't take your eyes off of the machine, Calvin.

Matt Nolf, senior, takes a break after typing such a long document. Now all he has to do is spellcheck.

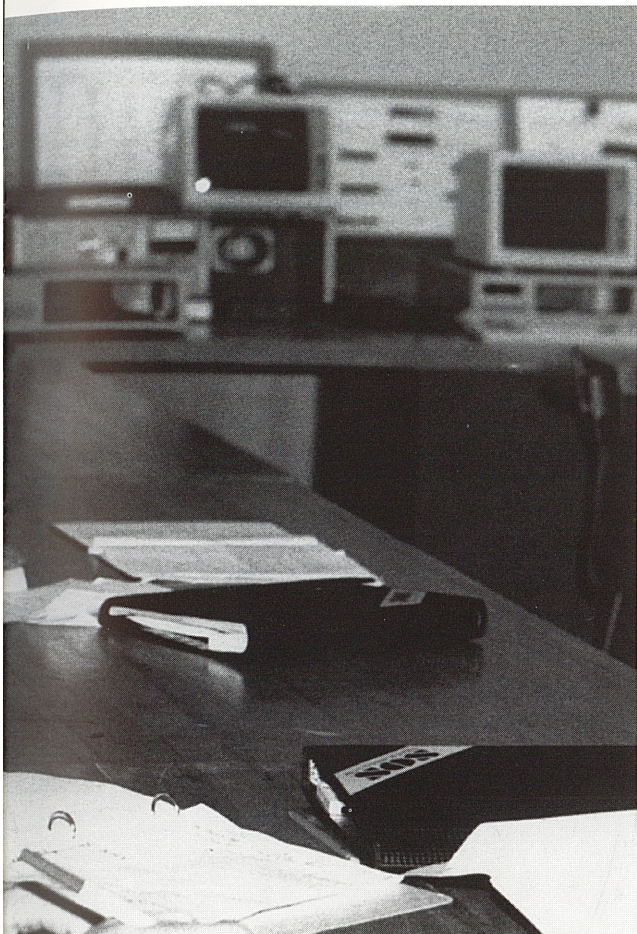

Steve Rattigen shouldn't take his eyes off of the machine. It's all fun and games until someone loses a finger.

Above: Rich Cable will come running to help if you have something in your eye. He definitely knows his safety techniques. Left: Chris Skroupa works on creating an archway. Hey Chris, where are you going to put it when you're done?

Athletics. . . Glory Days

As the Fall Sports' Senior Nights and Games approached, the windows all around the school were decorated to show each senior's name. Senior year is something special, and the friends that are made while playing sports will last a long time. Years from now, players will sit back and remember the Glory Days.

Field Of Dreams

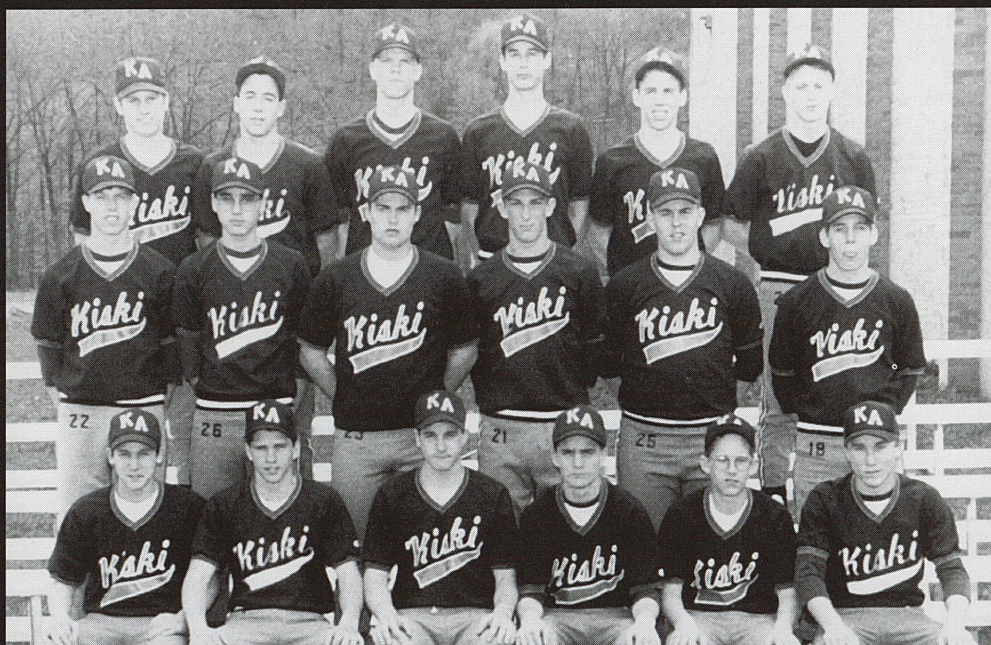

Who needs professional baseball when we have Major League stardom here at Kiski? Led by coach Jack Jewart, KA ball took their section's title last Spring, advancing to the playoffs. Tough competition during the season from teams like North Catholic and Seneca Valley was handled with ease after the team practiced together daily. The keys to their success were simple; senior,

John Cullen, said, "We had a good pitching staff," and senior, Doug Christini, added, "We hit the ball a little bit." With all of this talent, Kiski Area Baseball is anxious to defend thier championship, even if they're not being paid millions.

Led by the strong arms of Lisa Hinkelman, senior, and Autumn Dunn, junior, the Lady Cav Softball Team was section champs last Spring and advanced to the second round of the WPIAL playoffs. Coached by Diane Haney, the girls practiced under both spring rainstorms and hot sun to advance the farthest in the school's softball history. Junior, Melissa Mornes, hopes this season will be even better. Junior, Tiffany York, and Lisa Hinkelman would like to thank "Pap, for all of his support, candy and gum. We couldn't have made it without him."

Runnin' On Empty

The 1994 Kiski Area boys' and girls' track and field teams both advanced to WPIAL playoffs! This statement sums up how the season turned out, but it does not express all the personal accomplishments that were made. Each athlete is rewarded by his or her efforts. Junior sprinter Heather Corridoni said, "Training and conditioning for the spring begins in December, and we go to a few indoor meets, but the section meets don't begin until April." The seniors who graduated from the teams are greatly missed, but with a strong field returning, Mr. Feudale and Mr. Halli feel that the teams can make it to playoffs again this season. Track and field is a very popular sport at Kiski because of its exciting and competitive atmosphere.

Man's Final Frontier

To a spectator, it would appear that cross country is simply a lot of running. However, the runners know that the sport is a mental battle as well as a physical battle. Often, the members of the team are the only people who really understand how it feels to have a great race, or a terrible one. The senior tri-captains of the girls' team, Laura Prizner, Colleen Synan, and Lynn Walton, feel, "It's not often that your best friends can help you achieve your goals. Thanks for all the great memories and Good Luck."

The 1994 boys' cross country came close to qualifying for WPIAL finals at Slippery Rock University. Captain, Bob Ralston, did qualify individually; however, Coach Argyros believes, "The main goal for the boys' next season is to qualify for WPIAL final." The girls' team capped off their terrific season, one in which they won all of their dual meets and invitational, with a sixth place finish at the state meet that was held at Pennsylvania State University, State College. Good Job Runners!

Hangin' Tough

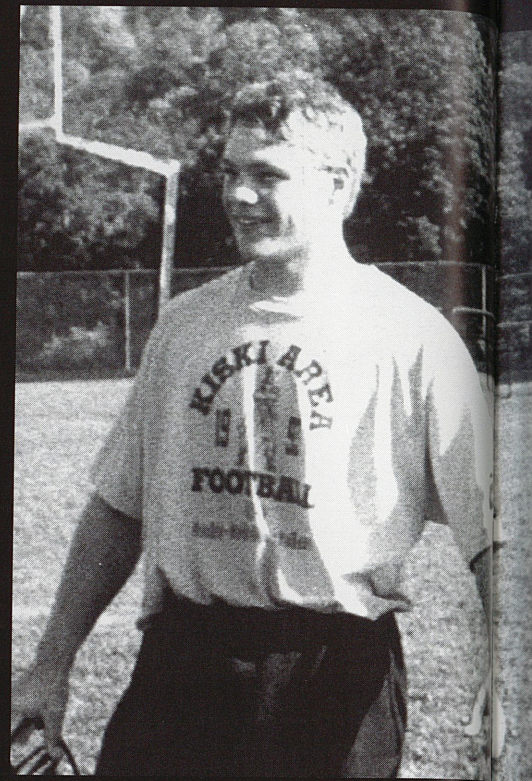

Successful sports teams are plentiful here at Kiski, but two, the boys' and girls' tennis teams, are often overlooked. The girl tennis pros begin a grueling training at tennis camp during the summer and continue to practice every day after school come September. Coached by Mr Antenucci, the girls took pride in an excellent season. Junior, Amy Jancaro, remarked, "Everyone put forth their best effort. Even though we didn't make the play-offs, we worked really hard and we had a lot of fun."

Hard work is no stranger to the boys' tennis team as they, too, practiced daily after school. Led by Coach Santia, the players learn the importance of team effort and, at the same time, many reach the goals they have set. In looking forward to the 1995 season, Jeff Kengor, junior, said, "I hope the team wins and has a lot of fun this year."

Right: Brad Hemphill, junior, makes a good return as we see the ball arch towards his opponent. Coach would be proud of his good form.

A Few Good Men

Frosty autumn evenings, hours of strenuous practice, the roar of the crowd, team loyalty, and the intense feeling of competition-Football Season! This team of guys put in long, grueling hours of practice to make their school proud. Headed by their captains, Mike Denison, Jason Clouser, and Adam Beck, the Cavaliers finished their season with a 5-5 record. Senior guard Matt Smith, 74, reflected on the year, "We showed that a group without real superior talent can play together well." The football team's head coach, Mr. Larry Kunselman, is just as proud of the members' dedication as the rest of the school.

The ninth grade team, looking up to the varsity and junior varsity, finished their season with a record of 3-1-2. Coached by Mr. Chuck Tursky and Mr. Don Toy, the team faced tough competition such as McKeesport and Central Catholic. While competing against these teams, many memories were made. Surely the starters will remember the drive against McKeesport to tie the score at 20.

Woo- hoo! Rock On!

The soccer stars of Kiski Area hit the fields this year, boys coached by Mr. Heder and Mr. Jewart and girls coached by Mrs. Cignetti and Mrs. Ferraro. Both teams turned out winning seasons with 11-9 and 11-8 records, respectively. Both teams practiced daily on Kiski's soccer fields behind the intermediate school. The teams also played some matches at Davis Field in Vandergrift, drawing soccer fans out under the lights.

Sean Arnold, freshman, said, "I had great expectations for the season, and I can't wait for next year." Sophomore, Rachel Ehalt, reflected on the season in this way, "We're all friends, and not all teams are that fortunate."

Junior, Ryan Litterini, and seniors, Matt Kepple and Brian Claypool, seem to be friends; an important part of teamwork, one that these guys more than likely know, is friendship and respect.

Above, Junior, Denise Ardisson, needs to keep her eyes on the ball. Soccer is a game of the feet: dribbling, passing, and scoring.

Swingtown

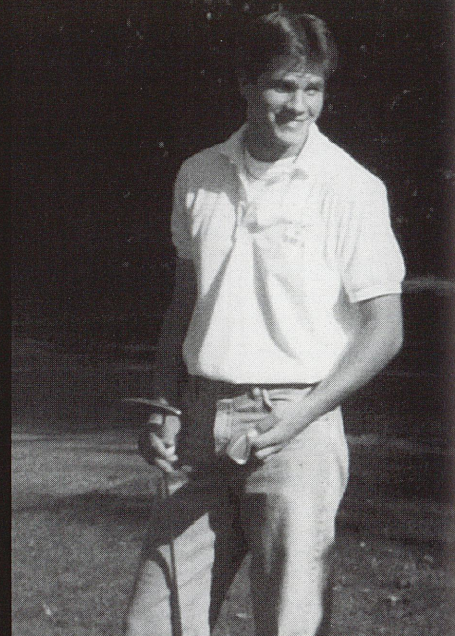

The KA golf team swung into action under the coaching expertise of Mr. Albert Veselicky. During the very strenuous season, the team strived for excellence. A lot of long hours out on the green let the players gain valuable playing experience while having fun. In looking forward to the 1995 season, junior Dennis Munko said, "The Boys Golf Team is going to be very competitive next season. We are going to be a very hungry golf team and try to eat up the competition." It is good to be aggressive, right?

Barry Byers, junior, waits for his turn to "Tee-off." It looks like a perfect day for golf!

We Are The Champions

Togetherness. If there is one simple word to describe the 1994 Lady Cavs, that is it. The seven members of the varsity squad had a combined total of 37 years experience playing secondary level volleyball. Most of these players had been together since seventh grade, so playing together was certainly nothing new. As MVP, Diane Wilson was quick to point out, "We all worked together to be the best team we could possibly be." At the postseason banquet, Coach Liz Kovach said that this was the most unified team that she had ever coached at Kiski. This unity provided for a very exciting season, the highlights of which include participation in a clinic with volleyball "guru" Bob Bertucci, a first-place finish in the widely-touted Upper St Clair tournament, a final overall record of 14-3, new assistant coach Denise Fink, and a WPIAL Section 3-AAA co-championship. Oh yes, and they beat Plum. As any player will mention, defeating these long-time rivals on Senior Night was well worth all of the practices, which began in early August. Senior Melissa Kelly said, "Beating Plum gave me a great feeling of accomplishment, but especially it happening on my Senior Night made it extra special." Perhaps all of these things are what made Coach Kovach, who is not coaching again next year, say that her last year was the best. It is certain that the underclassmen are already getting "set" to do even better next year.

Its nothin' but net for the KA Boys' Basketball team. This dedicated group of athletes has learned that long hours of training and practice daily after school do pay off. The boys' ninth grade, Junior Varsity, and Varsity teams had memorable moments throughout their remarkable seasons, including a sweep of the trophies at the Freeport Christmas Tournament by scoring over Plum, Freeport, and Knoch, their competitors. Individually each player showed star quality throughout the season. In fact, the ninth graders finished with an undefeated record. Jeff Jackson, co-captain, stated, "Our goal going into the season was to win the section, and it all just worked out." The ninth grade team is coached by Mr. Intrieri, and the cooperative effort of Mr. Larry Rupert and Mr. Denny Rupert, head coaches of Varsity and JV respectively, made the entire program shine. Senior, Jason Clouser, remarked, "I think the season was a great success, and I learned how to be more of a team player." A winning season has had an impact on everyone. As sophomore, Joe Boland, said, "This year's team brought respect to our basketball program. We helped to start a winning tradition that will continue next year."

The Air Up There

Some things at Kiski never seem to change: the tunnel is never of any practical use, and the girls' basketball team is always tough to beat. As senior Shannon Vittone described this year's team, they "have many strengths as a team. (Their) greatest strength is probably (their) versatility." Despite the strong individual talents of each player, they played much like a close-knit family. "One of the nice things about the group is that they play together. It doesn't matter who scores; it's 'How can I help the team?'" commented head coach, Mr. Tom Pipkins. A new member of this family this year was assistant coach Tom Luccino. He aided the Lady Cavs in their quest for a seventh consecutive playoff appearance. Simply qualifying for the playoffs is no longer good enough for Coach Pipkins. He said, "We're looking to take it a step further." If anyone could reach this lofty goal, this group can.

It will no doubt be a tough road to setting a higher standard. Going from good to better is relatively easy. It's going from better to best that's hard. These ladies seem up for the task.

The 9th grade team gets pumped up for the big game.

Adam Beck, senior, like every other winner, enjoys raising his hand in victory. A smile may not appear on his face initially; however, being part of a winning team is something to smile about.

The Junkyard Dogs

The wrestling team is one of Kiski's best, yet most underrated, sports teams. Their perfect record of 11 and 0 leaves them undefeated and lend them a 7 and 0 record in the W.P.I.A.L.'s. This, however, was no easy task. The wrestling team had to overcome many obstacles to get this far. One of the main ones, as Ean Jackson stated, "... is getting respect from other teams." David Faulk agreed with him by saying, "Getting recognized by people and making weight is our biggest struggle." Mr. Tursky, coach, merely said that beating Kittaning was their main objective.

What is it about the wrestling team that got them over everything standing in their way? The yearbook staff asked Scott Lowers what made the team one of the best in its division, and he said, "We are the best because of our good work ethic." Luke Pollick said, "Our strongest areas are our coaching and the support from everyone, even J.V., and that we work harder than anyone else." Mr. Tursky said that the excellence of the team in every aspect is what has kept them on top.

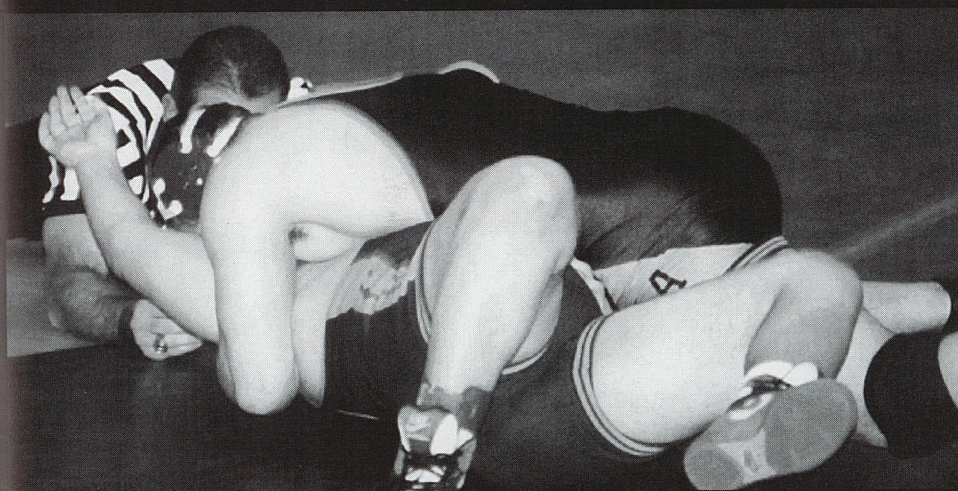

Congratulations Wrestling Team on your outstanding season.

Luke Pollick, junior, gets tangled up with his competitor. With one quick move he can guarantee a win.

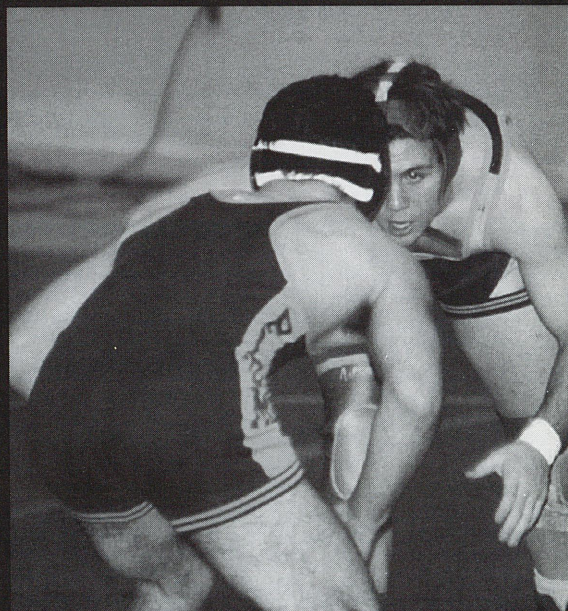

The entire wrestling team attends an informal meeting in the center of the playing mats before the competition begins. Giving advice, pumping each other up, and being a friend are all parts of becoming a winning team.

The referee gives his 1-2-3 count and this KA wrestler has made the grade.

Bill Carson, senior, is a veteran wrestler and knows how to compete successfully. Intimidation is part of the game, and Bill can stare his opponents right in the eye.

Splish, Splash, I Was Taking A Bath

The Kiski Area Swimming and Diving teams splashed into a tough season this winter. With swim caps on, each member of every race plunges into the water not only hoping to win but also hoping to improve their times. They may not win every time they compete, but they continually put forth a great amount of effort. Practicing six days a week, Monday through Saturday, for nearly three hours, the boys' and girls' teams are under the leadership of coaches, Shauna Jones and Jim Scott. Freshman, Amanda Dodd, summed up the swim team by saying, "We've built tremendous team spirit by supporting each other, like chanting to psych each other up."

Above: These members of the girls' team, including freshmen Robin Sproull and Nicole Scoundrol, take a quick break from laps and watch their fellow teammates tough it out in the pool.

Below: These three hard workers are found lounging by the poolside. But they want sunshine and sand to go along with the water.

All The Right Moves

With their pompoms waving and megaphones echoing, the KA cheerleaders could always get the crowd on their feet. Senior, Tiffany Brzezinski, summed up her cheerleading years, "I've learned a lot from my cheerleading experience, and I've built many friendships. Many memories were made."

"We say Kiski — you say Cavs!" The chants and the claps of the Kiski Area cheerleaders can always be counted on to bring that extra bit of spirit to KA events. Under the leadership of captains, Adrienne Arnold, Heather McCutcheon, and Jodi Stevenson, all seniors, this year was no exception.

Organizations. . . Lean On Me

Similar to the Key Club vs. Faculty Basketball Game, the National Honor Society sponsored a Volleyball game, putting the NHS members against the brave faculty. Here, the cheerleaders for this special event smile for the camera. Proceeds funded the induction ceremony.

Student Media Flourishes

Newspapers, television, magazines. . . Kiski Area's means of communication certainly branched out in '94-'95. For the first time at Kiski Area, students were able to take classes in each area. The Kiskizette flourished under the leadership of Mr. Iagnemma. Mike Tometsko enjoyed his time on the staff "because I learned the actual production steps in printing a newspaper." Kiski's literary magazine changed hands this year — moving from the Gifted English students to Mr. Trunzo's new Creative Writing classes. Heather O'Hara, junior, stated, "It was a learning experience that Mr. T. made both enjoyable and fun." Big changes are expected for the magazine which will debut in the late spring. Finally, the students involved in "Good Morning Kiski" and the AV Crew were not the only ones vying for the KAE-TV studio to produce videos; the new Broadcast Media course taught by Mr. Norton and Mr. Stauffer began with tremendous effort from the students' production companies. Each semester completed individual projects and three news magazines, "The Cavalier Chronicles." Senior, Lana Gasperini, was impressed by "being able to see how much we had improved with each edition of the Chronicles."

As we approach the 21st century, technology in media at Kiski Area strives successfully to keep up with the future of communication.

KA Library Computerized

Pulling information from the Kiski Library used to be more like pulling teeth, but now the KA Library has entered the modern world of cyberspace because of a system called Access PA. You can now find a book with a simple touch of a computer key. The Access PA system is a state-wide data base of all kinds of research material that makes searching for a specific book a much easier process. This system is linked not only with numerous school libraries across Pennsylvania, it is also connected with many public libraries. Mr. Kulas is very excited about receiving this system in his library, and stated, "The Access PA system is absolutely user-friendly, and now that we have this, over 19,000,000 books can be recalled." Besides the resources in our own building, Kiski students now have access to many more books and magazines — perfect for seniors fretting over finding enough sources for their term papers.

The library aides were responsible for putting bar codes on all of the books in the Kiski Library. When asked what they thought of all that work, most library aides said the same thing, "Even though it's going to be hard, it will be worth it in the long run because it will make research easier."

Successful KA Telethon

The telethon has been an important part of the community, Kiski Area, and the holiday season for the last seven years. It was started in order to provide money for Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, but many people were concerned that all of the students hard work to raise money wasn't going to benefit the children in this area. For this reason, the last seven to eight years have been committed to helping the local Salvation Army.

The telethon committee consists of student council officers from ninth through twelfth grades. This handful of students spend time in the month before the weeklong December telethon visiting area businesses, collecting donations, and gathering support for the upcoming broadcast. Shown on TCI Cable, the telethon is filmed from the K-art parking lot in Hyde Park Plaza, Allegheny Township. Combined with the tremendous efforts of the AV Crew, Mr. Schaeffer, Mr. Nicholas, and the Broadcast Media students who served as volunteer hosts, the telethon committee raised $12,000 for the local Salvation Army. Co-Chairperson and senior Lana Gasperini remarked, "It was a lot of hard work, but when we received the final check, it was worth it." Shannon Vittone, the other senior committee chair felt that "...the telethon would never be a success without the caring and giving of so many generous people." With kind attitudes and dedicated support the Kiski Area Telethon continues to bring brighter times to the Kiski Valley during the holiday season.

Red Ribbon Week

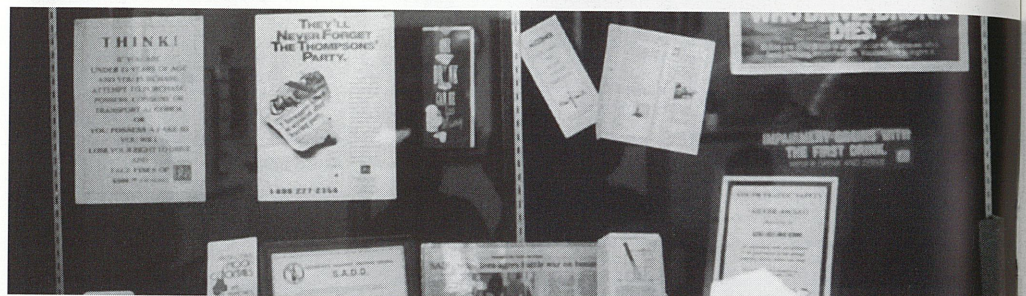

"JUST SAY NO TO DRUGS AND ALCOHOL" is all that the Red Ribbon Committee asks of you. Each year, a dedicated group of students fills the halls of Kiski Area with posters and banners that discourage the use of illicit drugs and alcohol. Also, the group decorates Kiski's campus with what seems to be an infinite number of red balloons so that the community can be reminded of Red Ribbon Week and it's purpose.

In 1985, the Federal Agent Enrique Camarena was murdered by drug traffickers. A concerned group of community members joined together to initiate what is now known as the Red Ribbon Program. By not only encouraging the end of drug use, but by preventing its start through education and awareness, the group works towards a drug-free environment. The program has continued to grow, now including many schools, organizations, and work places that stretch across the entire United States.

Red Ribbon Week of the 1994-95 school year fell during October 22-30, 1994. Under the direction of Mrs. Rossi, Kiski's own Red Ribbon Committee promoted awareness through many activities such as "Wear Red Day." Amy Ross, a junior and committee member, says, "The week was a success and everyone worked really hard." Good job Red Ribbon committee in working to keep KA drug-free!

Adding Up To Success

The Kiski Area Math Team and Club both give extra time and effort to teach and learn math. Senior, Sarah Clemmens, said, "The Math Club is made up only of the senior math tutors." However, the Math Team was selected at the beginning of the school year after try-outs. "The team competes in both the Strongland and MCWP divisions," said advisor, Mrs. Scales. The schools that compete each send up to four teams of five students each. In addition to the meets, the members of the Math Team work on National Math League and Pennsylvania Math League Contest questions to prepare themselves for tough competition from teams like Franklin Regional and Gateway. Captain and senior, Shannon Vittone, was proud to say that Kiski students "have done extremely well in the contests. We've worked very hard and have been able to excel in many ways." The team practices every Thursday in the lower cafeteria, but you can find senior math tutors there every day during Activity Period willing to help any student. Do you know the best reward for working diligently at those word problems as a member of the Math Team? Several seniors said, "Definitely the cookies, doughnuts, milk we get after the meets. . ."

Look Who's Talking

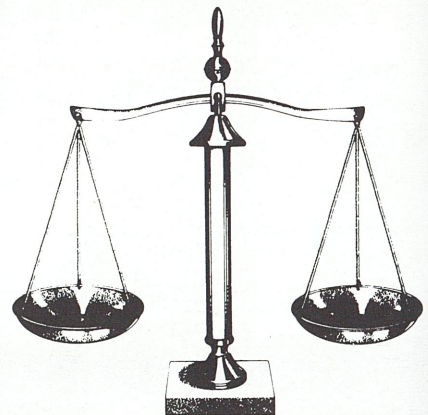

The Mock Trial Team was sure to have another successful season this year. The team is headed and advised by English teacher, Mr. Ronald Norton. Even though the team has been part of Kiski Area for several years, many people still don't know what it is or what it does. For those who fit the previous description, here is a brief overview of the team. The Mock Trial Team is selected at the beginning of the year by Mr. Norton and a team of lawyers. These lawyers, Mr. Imperfeto, Mr. Little, and Mr. Geary, assist the team throughout the season, teaching them the ins and outs of the courtroom. After the team is selected, the members are given the case that they will be working with the entire season. The case is always a very possible and realistic scenario and has sometimes been an actual case before. The members of the team try out for the parts of the case, such as the defender, prosecuting lawyers, or the defendant, prosecutor, or witnesses. These students not only have to thoroughly know the case, they must also understand all of the intricacies of the judicial system and possess a talent for acting. Once the parts are assigned, the team practices and practices, assisted by the lawyers, of course. They examine the case from every possible angle, always trying to have the edge. Judging from their record, most of the time, they do. They then travel to the courthouse to battle with another school's team. A real judge sits at the head of the courtroom, and a real jury made up of lawyers sits at the side. The case is started as if it were a true case, each team representing either the defendant or prosecutor. With this system, every member will not compete at each meet. The lawyers take turns asking questions of the witnesses, trying their best to get them ruffled. The jury scores each team, and the best score wins.

Music... Pump Up The Volume

The music department is always happy to be of service to the entire district; here, Shawn Pityn, Jason May, Andy Knotaitis, James Borowski, Mike Rometo, and Tom Salyers, a group of band members, played when the Secretary of Education visited the intermediate school.

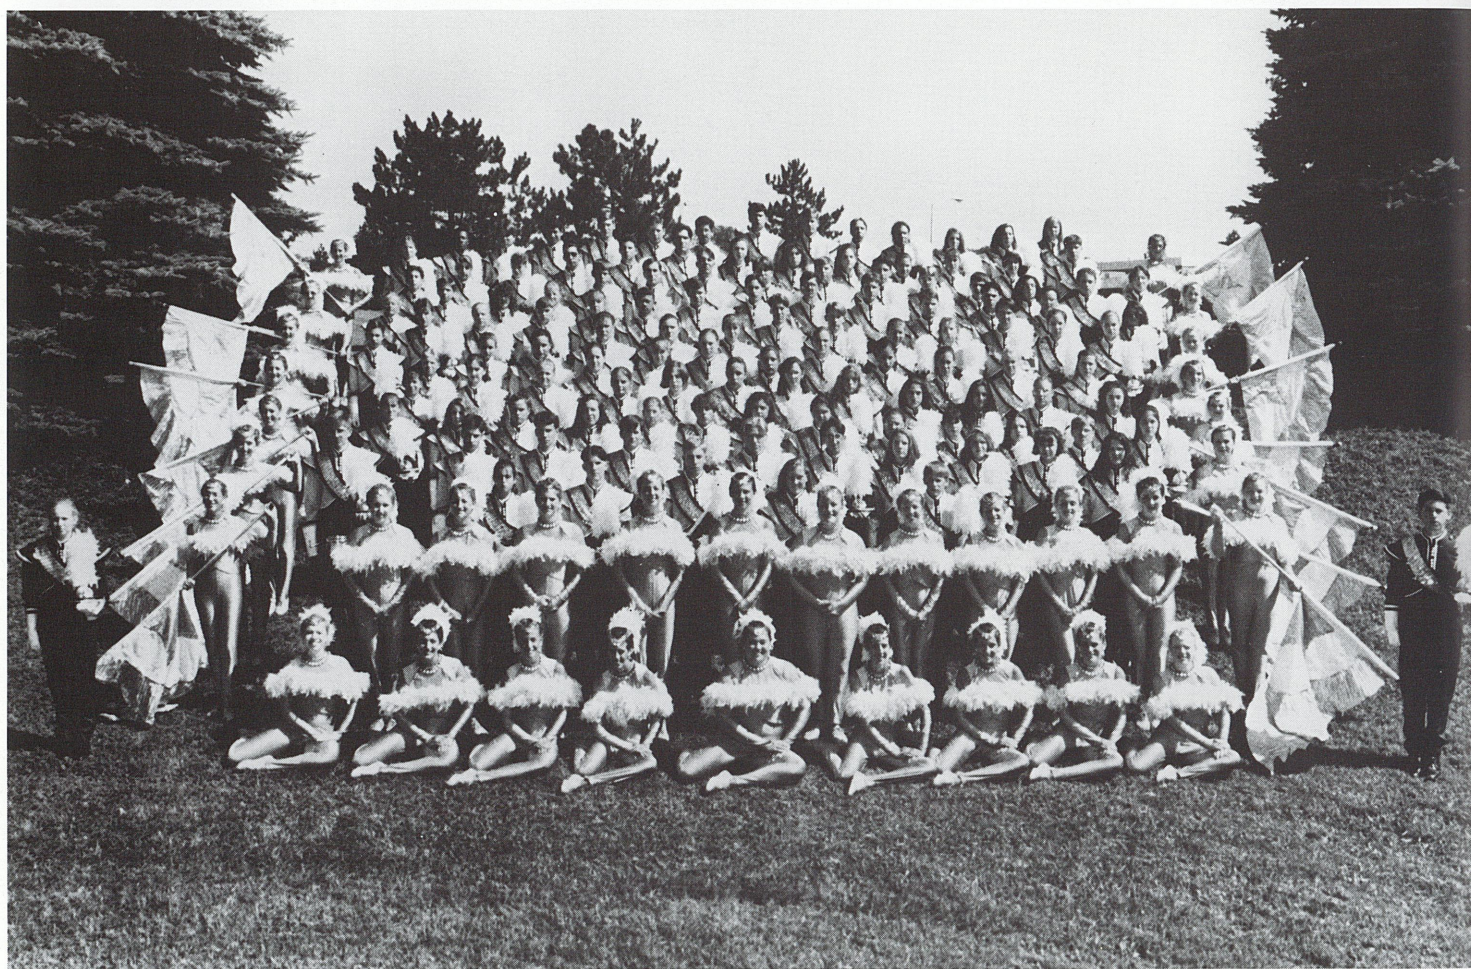

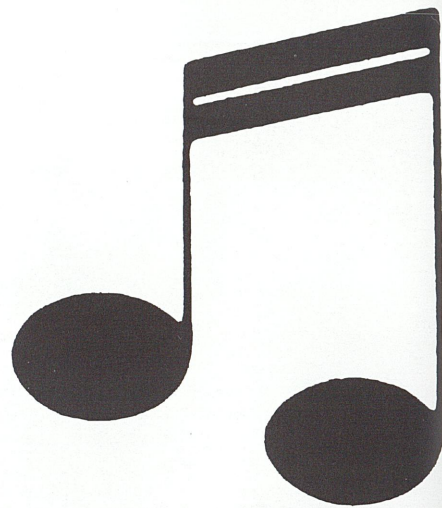

Come Rain Or Come Shine

The marching band got the 1994-1995 school year off to a great start this year with their most successful season ever. Some doubted the band could be so successful with many more freshmen members than in the past. However, the band went on to place first in all local competitions, fourth overall in the Bands of America Eastern Regionals at West Virginia University, and first in their division and second overall at BOA Grand Nationals at Indianapolis. This success certainly did not come without sacrifice. The group started to perfect its program, "Come Rain or Come Shine," in early August. Late-night practices were the norm after school began. Perhaps that is why the marching band was invited to perform at the Civic Arena with the Pittsburgh Symphony in April. Commenting on the group's progress this year, senior Jodie Cain said, "Working successfully with others and realizing that everyone must work as a 'family' are things that cannot go unmentioned." Preparations are already being made for next year, when Kiski will again march to success.

The Sound of Music

Kiski's concert bands — the ninth grade band, symphonic band, and wind ensemble — are also quite extraordinary, although the directors refuse to make any comparison with others. "We just worry about ourselves," commented George Wozniak, director. Nevertheless, a high level of professionalism is always to be expected of these groups. Mr. Wozniak attributed this to "hard work and high musical standards." Whatever the reason, these students certainly are the "music-makers and the dreamers of dreams."

Kiski is continuing to build a strong jazz program, as well. Student improvisors were offered an in depth look at different aspects of jazz this year in a first-ever jazz ensemble elective. Even without an elective, Kiski's two ensembles seem to get better each year. Baritone saxophonist, Courtney Riffer, said, "The intense competition keeps the members at a high level of motivation and desire to improve individually and as a group." Hopefully, these "cats" will continue to swing for years to come.

KA Chorus Explained

If you walk into the Fine Arts Building and think you hear angels, don't worry; it's probably only one of Kiski's numerous choirs rehearsing their pieces. Many members began chorus in junior high. At the high school, they continued to lift their voices in the Ninth Grade Chorus. This group puts on two concerts a year as does the Mixed Chorus which consists of 10th graders. Concert Choir is the choir composed of the upperclassmen. The fourth choir is a special group of approximately forty select members in 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. Along with the two regular concerts a year, Chorale also does special competitions and performances. This year Chorale was invited to sing in a special show at Heinz Chapel. All of the choirs performed in "A Night of Stars" at the Civic Arena. The performance involved over 2000 choir members from different schools.

In addition to the school's regular choirs, there are three special groups that devote a lot of out-of-school time to their shows. The members of these groups are selected by audition. First there is Girls' Show Choir made up of about 20 members. Next is Mixed Show Choir consisting of 40 boys and girls. Both groups do a show where they dance as well as sing. The numbers they perform are usually more contemporary than normal chorus pieces. They do several performances throughout the year and attend at least one competition. They take time out of their hectic schedules to perform a special drug-free program for the elementary schools in the district. The last of the special groups is Jazz Rock. Sixteen of the best voices in Mixed Show Choir practiced their songs every day during eighth period for the first semester. Jazz Rock's numerous performances include singing at certain sports' senior nights and at many of the show choir performances also.

Outside of school sponsored groups, quite a few choir members get involved in non-school affiliated choirs. For instance, four students made Honors Choir, three made Districts, two made Regionals, and many attended County Choir, which was held here at the Big K. A number of Kiski's choir members are also involved in a group called Junior Mendellson directed by Robert Page.

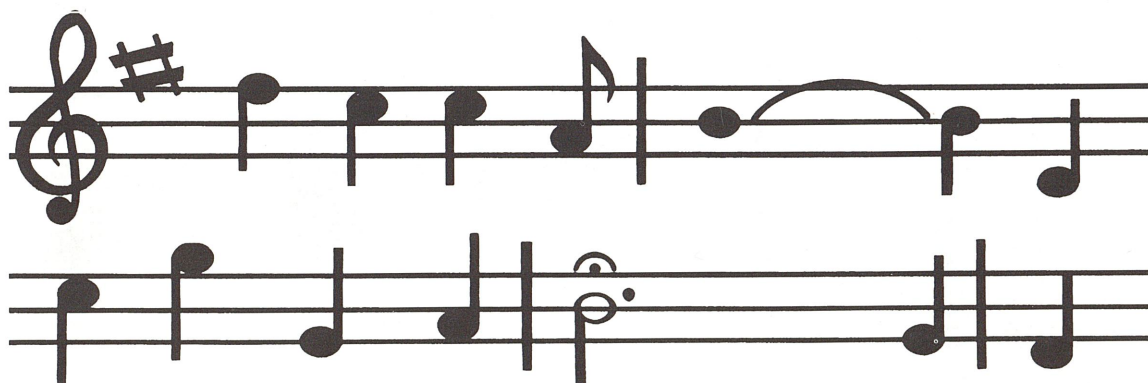

Every choir puts forth a tremendous amount of time and effort into their performances and they are rewarded by their great successes. Mrs. Rupert, the choral director, displays her pride in the organization.

Good Luck Kiski Choirs!

The Yearbook Staff would like to apologize to the Mixed Choir: the picture of this group was not delivered in time for our deadline. We are extremely sorry, and apologize for any disappointment. The names of this group are listed below.

Life Skills Support

The Life Skills Support class at Kiski Area High School is assisted by approximately twenty five high school "Buddies." Buddies are student volunteers in grades nine through twelve who help the special education class during the day. Buddies do everything! In the classroom, the buddies assist with academic lessons such as spelling, reading, math, and sign language. During gym class the students and the buddies play basketball, volleyball, kickball, wiffleball, or bowling. Our artistic and talented high school volunteers create and assist our students with beautiful art projects. The buddies also reinforce daily living skills such as sweeping, washing windows, ironing, folding clothes, and cooking, Socialization skills are a major contribution from the buddies. The buddies converse with the students, play games with them, and accompany them on field trips. During field trips, the buddies aid the students in grocery shopping, buying gifts, and ordering and exchanging money at local restaurants.

How lucky the Life Skills Class at the Big K is to have such friendly, caring, and pleasant volunteers.

KISKI
AREA
STUDENT

HOT

Outrageous Fortune

From Certs and sweatshirts to pens and pencils, the Student Store surely has something for you! Run by the Kiski Area Business students, the Student Store is a professional establishment that gives students and faculty access to all of their school supplies needs. According to Ms. Manganello, "The Student Store is a tremendous asset not only to the high school but to the entire school district." After all, where else can you purchase Big K items while learning the value of a dollar? Senior Patrick Leyland felt that "...managing the Student Store is a fun and educational experience." So the next time you find yourself wandering the halls of KA during Activity Period, stop in the Student Store and see what they have in store for you!

Senior, Patrick Leyland, and junior, Kylie Teepie, both spend time working in and organizing the Student Store, the store for the students of the Big K.

FBLA Competitions

Tami Williams, senior, won 2nd place in Business Communications.

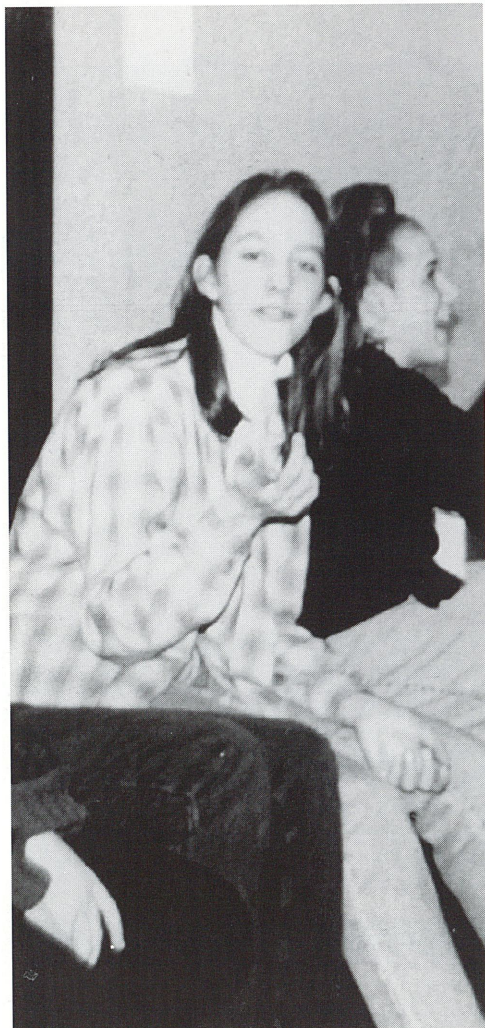

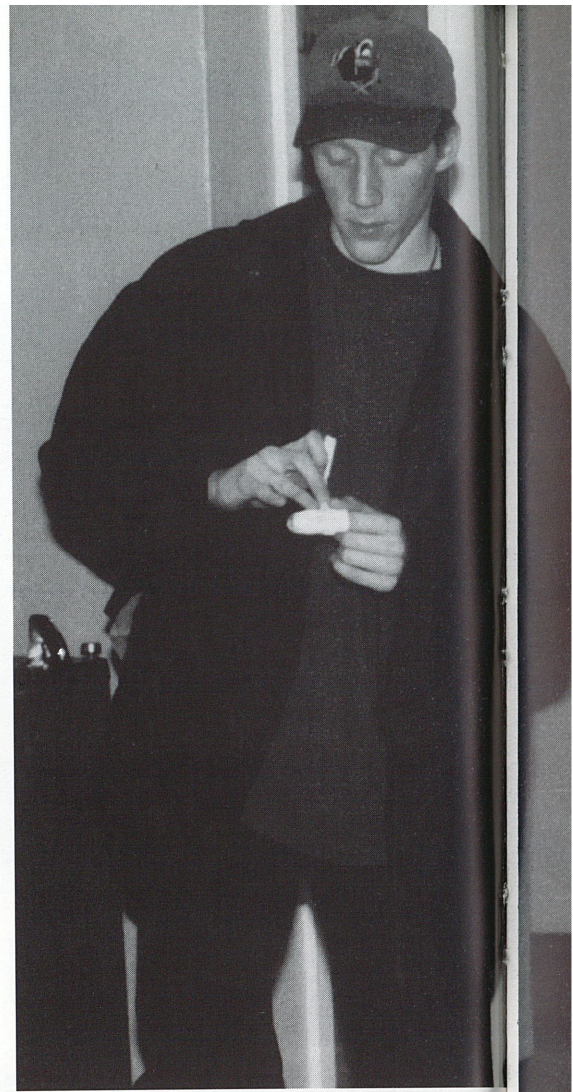

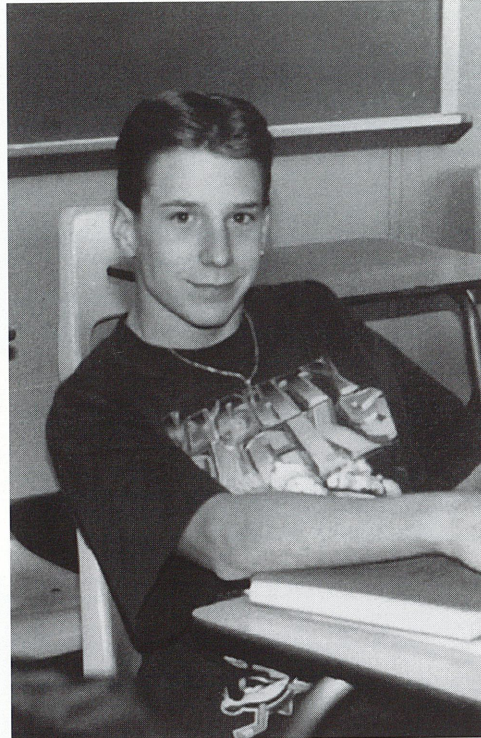

Clint Ewing, senior, won 1st place in Computer Concepts.

Both advanced to State Competitions.

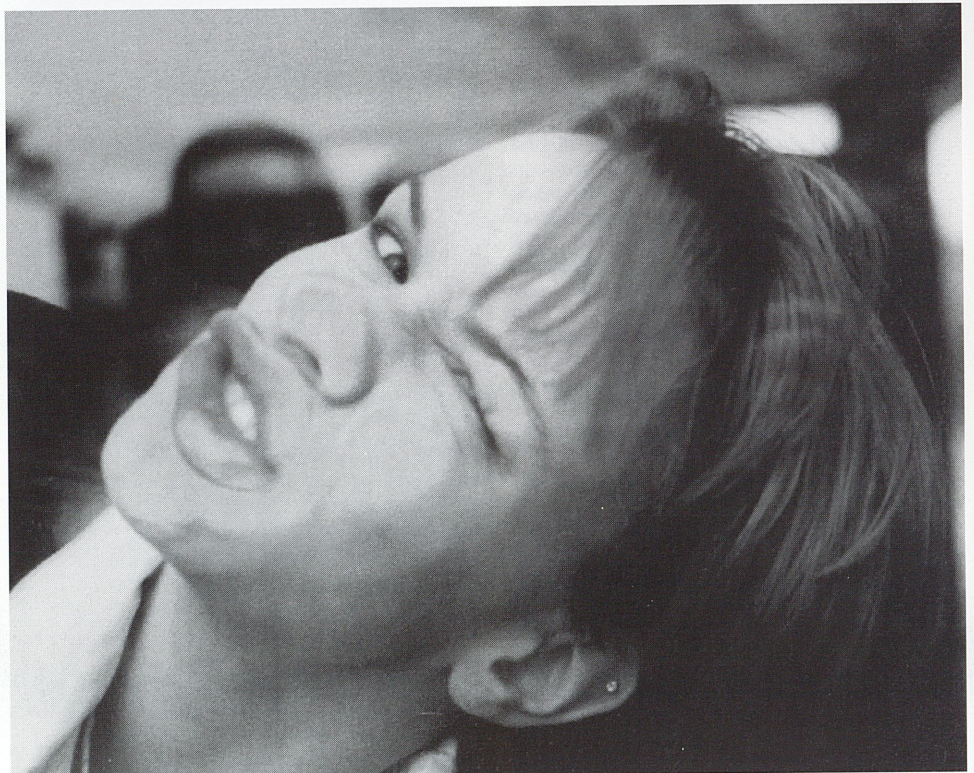

Left: Gayle Gardner, senior and production editor of the yearbook, makes a funny face. Hey GG, heard any snorting lately? Right: Juniors, Brad Ruggeri and Bill Erb, take a leisurely stroll down the hallway. Below: Keith MacNamara, freshman, smiles for a picture after a CP Algebra class with Mrs. Poleski.

Sarah Salvaterra in gym class.

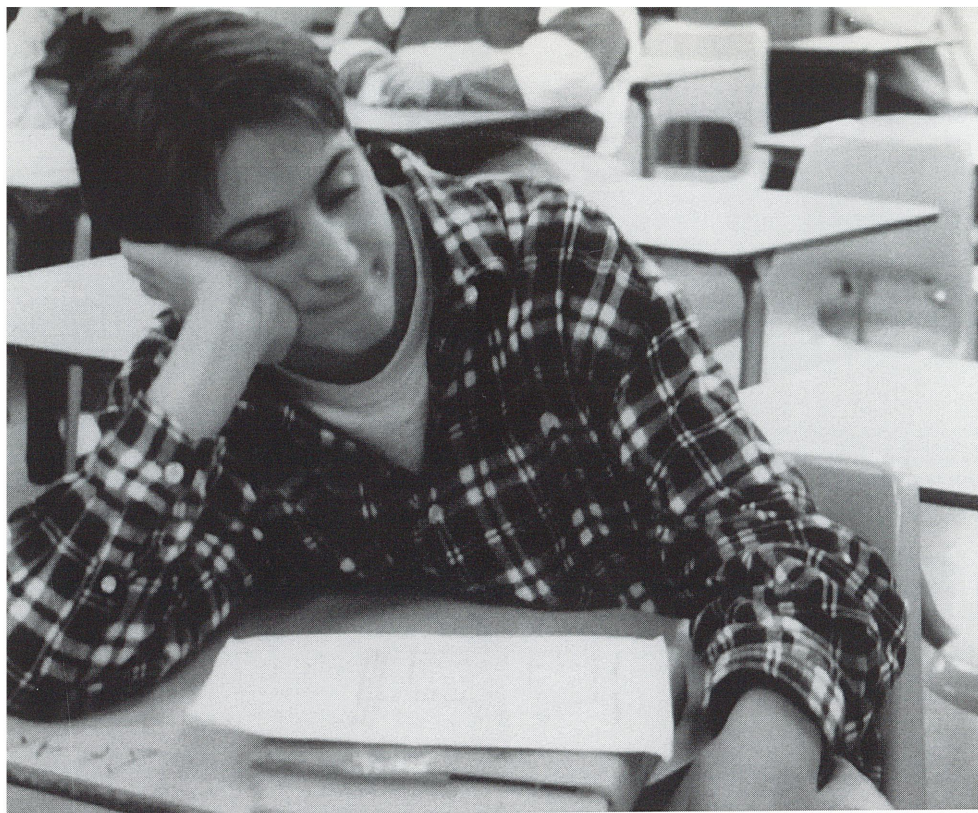

Brandi Yonek, junior, likes to ham it up. A smushed face is very becoming.

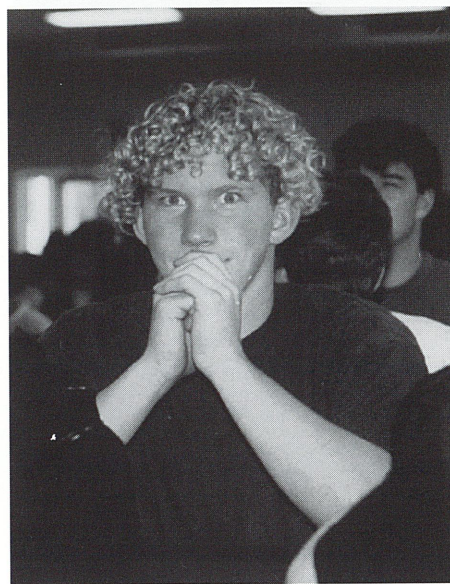

Above: Sarah Lamont and Eleanor Clarke, seniors, share a friendly snapshot during Calculus class. Right: Ean Jackson, sophomore, always keeps his teachers on their toes; they never know what he's going to say. Below: Scott Lowers and Sam Hallstrom work hard in one of the new Tech. Ed. classes.

Left: Dave LaRusse, junior, closes his eyes for only a minute. Below: Junior, A.J. Monheim, looks a little surprised. Lunch can't be that exciting.

Thanks for the Great Memories
The Best Is Yet To Come!
Love, Mom & Dad

To our very special daughter and sister,
Jennifer Jackson, Congratulations on your wonderful accomplishments. We are proud of you and you should be proud of yourself. We will pray for your continued success and will always be there to support you in any way. May the Lord be with you on your journey through life.
With Our Deepest Love,
Dad, Mom, Jeff, and Julia

Rick,
When I first met you, I felt So Blessed, and I thought I was in Heaven. I Swear that the Power of Love would not be the same Without You.
I want to wish you the best of luck in your journey of life.
May you always follow your dreams and aspirations and achieve the goals you set for yourself, as you have up to this point.
Now and Forever, you will always be the Wind Beneath My Wings.

I Will Always Love You, April

Heather,
As one adventure ends and another begins. The journey of life has many adventures. There will be shining moments; however, you will encounter many obstacles along the way. Take comfort in knowing that we are but a thought away, ever ready to guide, assist, console, carry, or just walk beside you. We will always be there for you!
Love, Mom and Jere

Matt,
We've watched you grow from a happy, cheerful child into an easygoing yet hardworking, fine young man.
We're very proud of all you have accomplished so far by your hard work and dedication, and we're looking forward to you fulfilling your future goals. We wish you success and happiness in the future. May all your hopes and dreams come true. We're proud of you.
Love You, Mom, Dad, Carolyn, Beth, and Dan

Congratulations, Scott! We are so proud of you; we always have been. Love, Mom & Dad

Gayle,
You will always be our "little angel" no matter how old you are.
We consider you a "special blessing" from God and we have tried to share you with family, friends, and even strangers. Our prayer for you has always been that you would be a blessing to those you are around. And, we have seen this prayer answered not only in our lives but in the lives of other people that you come in contact with.
We are so very proud of you and all you have accomplished. We thank God for our special angel everyday.
Love, Mom & Dad

Jenn,
As I stood in the delivery room of the New Ken Hospital and watched as you came into the world, little did I know what pride and joy you would bring into my life.
Thanks, Jenn! May God bless all that you do!
Dad

Don,
You were born on the 3rd of July, but you've always been our snow baby. You have always made us very proud and we're sure you always will.
Love, Mom & Dad

Elise,
You have brought joy and sunshine into our lives. We are so proud of you and your beliefs and accomplishments. Don't lose sight of your goals.
We Love You, Mum, Dad, and Anne
P.S. Did I tell you?

Nicole,
Not long ago, you were just a baby and now your graduating. You will go a long way because you have the want, the will power, and wisdom of today.
We're so very proud of you and we love you.
Mom, Dad, and Pappy

Lisa,
Its hard to believe that our baby is a senior! You have made us so proud of all your accomplishments. May your future be happy and successful and all your dreams come true. Remember, we'll always be there.
Love You Always,
Mom & Dad

Kristene,
Congratulations! We are so proud of everything that you do. Thank you for all the joy and wonderful memories you have brought into our lives. We wish you the very best now and in the future and hope that all your dreams come true. You are such a blessing to us.
Love You Always, Mom, Dad, Bill, and Cricket

Tiffany, We've been proud of you since the day you were born. You have proven you could do what you set out to do.
A whole new world is about to become your's. Go forward and never look back, so say GoodBye to Kiski and Hello to Penn State, Main. Always believe in yourself.
We Love You! Mom,
Dad, and Kristen

Danielle, Congratulations!

the stars.
Congratulations!
Love, Mom &
Dad

Sommer (Butch)
You've always made us proud when we think of kindergarten and first grade. You've come a long way from throwing your lunch box at Mrs. Emmanuel and refusing to go to school. We Love You, Som!
Mom & Dad

Diane,
Memories are a parent's most prized possession, and you have given your dad and me enough to fill our lifetime. We have loved every moment of watching you grow from that "foxy" little blond-haired "bombshell" into "Lady Di." Look out
world---here you come!
We know the future holds great things for you, and we will be with you every step of the way. Thank you for the greatest gift any parent could ask for in life--- your love!

Jodi, To my best friend, we finally made it. Now, we are off to college. Thanks for all the laughs, smiles, and tears. I expect there to be more memorable times in the future. Love, Jenn

From Pigtails, Converse, WonderWoman underoos and four different schools;
To Heels & Gowns, Dances & Parties, and the acceptance to College; You've come a long way! You've grown up to be a well-rounded, respected, friendly, and honest young lady and you have made your parents proud of you!
Congratulations, Mandy and Welcome Home to Tennessee — We've Missed You!

To Lisa: A daughter is right from the start, the darling of your doting heart — the charming apple of your eye, a little doll, a sweetiepie. . . You'd hardly guess that one small tot could make you love her such a lot — or find so many girlish ways to bring delight to all your days. . . And as she grows, your love and pride grows with her, and you feel inside the hope that someday she'll know, too the happiness she's brought you. We love you sweetie, always and forever. Love, Mom & Dad

Patrick,
We are so proud of you! We know your dreams are many. With courage and strength you can make them happen. Love You, Sweet Dreams, Don't Let The Bed
Bugs Bite! Mom, Dad, and Amy

Dear Guido III, You have accomplished a great deal in your high school career. You have made me very happy and proud to have a son like you. Despite all the hurdles you have had to endure, you have proven that you are a person of determination and character. You truly are my hero. Your loving father, Guido H. Frederick, Jr.

Rick, You have brought much joy to our lives — we are very proud of you. We love you! Mom, Dad, Corey, and Ashley Congratulations on a job well done! We all are very proud of your accomplishments. Dad, Mom, Mark, Lisa, Pap, Nana, and Mario

Amy, I'm so proud of my daughter. You have grown into an amazing woman who will be able to conquer anything in life. Good luck and I will always be there for you. Love, Mom

To Our Daughter, Tanya, As parents you always hope for your children and we wish you a very happy, healthy and blessed Christian life. You have always been our pride and joy and an exceptional loving person. Someday you will be appreciated for your loving gift and being there for your friends. We Love You and We're Very Proud Of You. Good Luck! Love, Mom & Dad KISKI Area Hockey Team got it's official start in April of 1994 with tryouts at Bladerunners in Harmarville. Practices started in May and are still being held on Sunday Nights in Kittanning as late as 10:15 p.m. The seventeen Varsity players have sacrificed a lot to play and are proud to wear the Kiski name. As a first year team in a relatively uncommon sport, KAHT has come a long way. Despite the variety of experience and background of the players, KAHT has meshed into a team under the coaching skills of Joe Cosentino (head coach) and assistant coaches, Skip Flanders and Gary Kosecki.

Right: Sophomore, Gwen Christini, searches for a book in the Big K library; only two more years til you search for research materials for the dreaded Senior Paper.

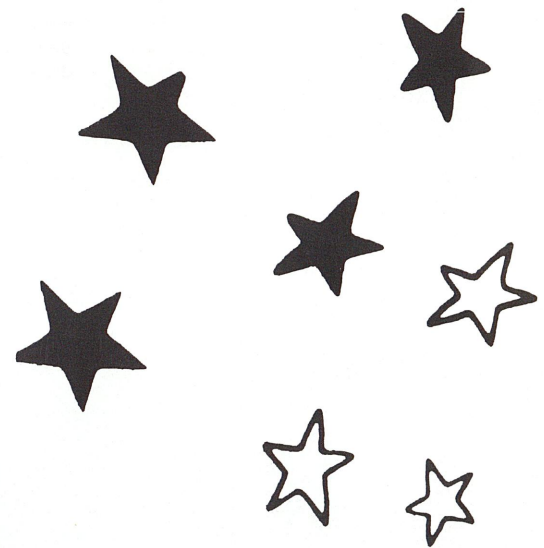

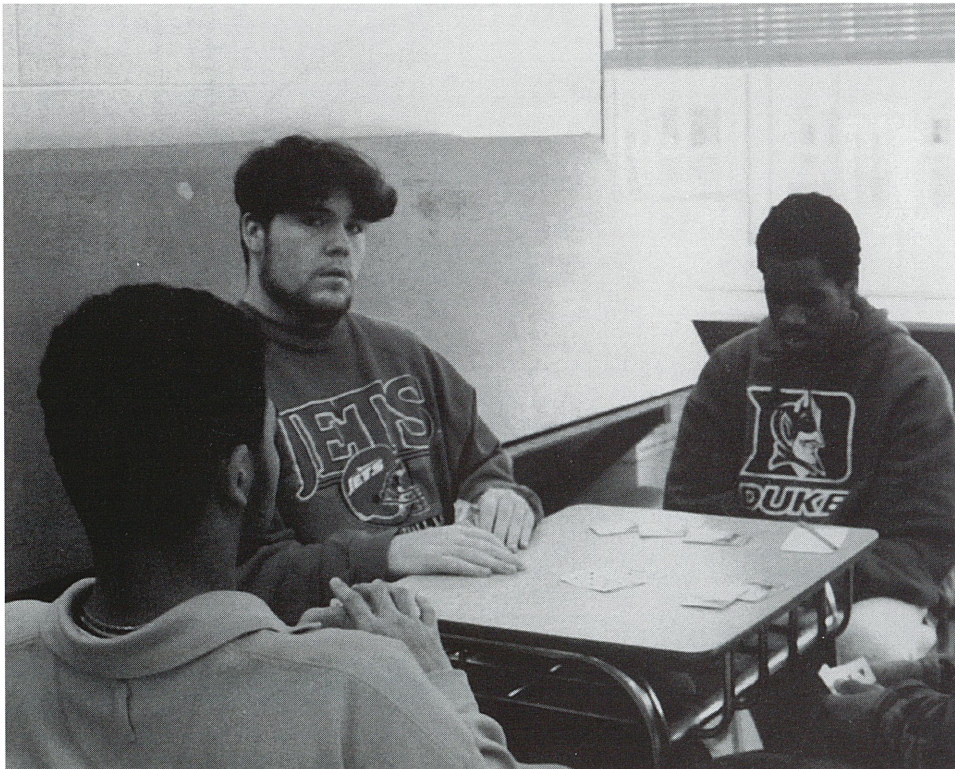

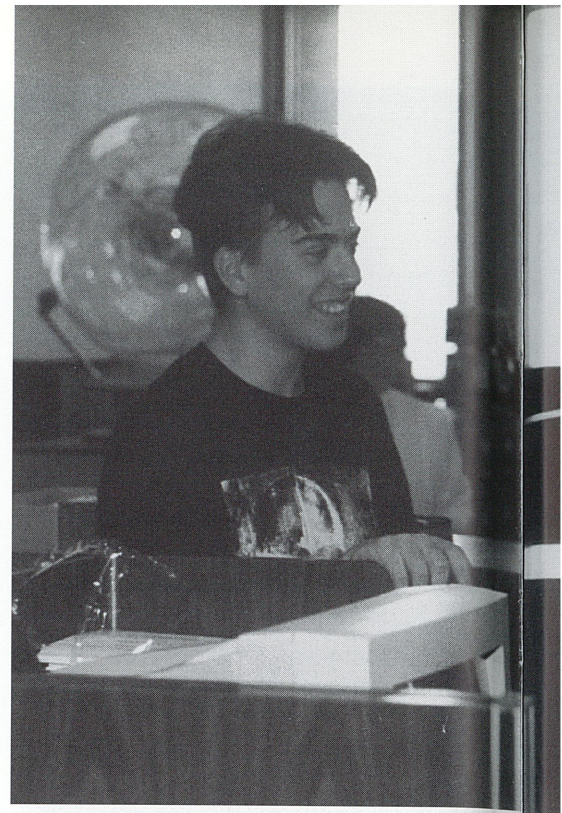

Above: The academic life at KAHS is often strenuous, but these students seem to be having a good time.

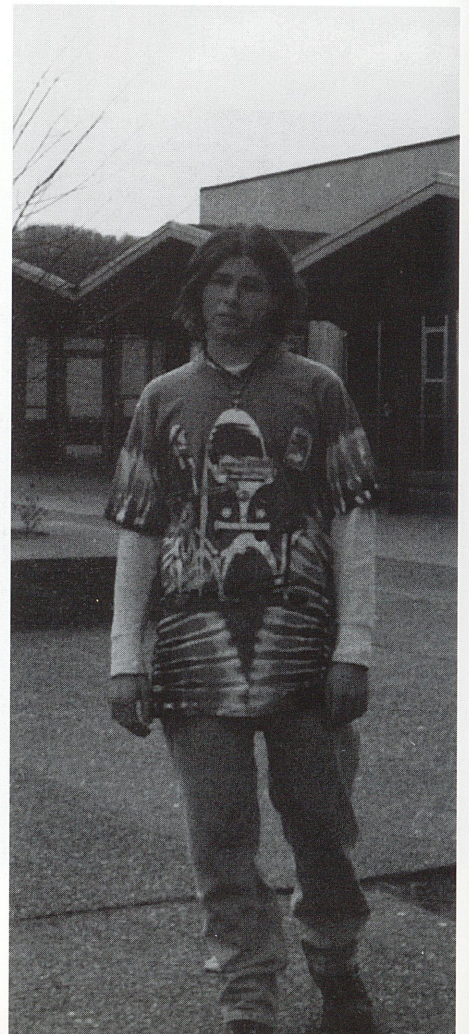

Above: Erin Mazanek, Jarrod Kucharski, and Kara Harchuck, all juniors, roam the halls. Are you returning from a Gifted History Forum meeting?

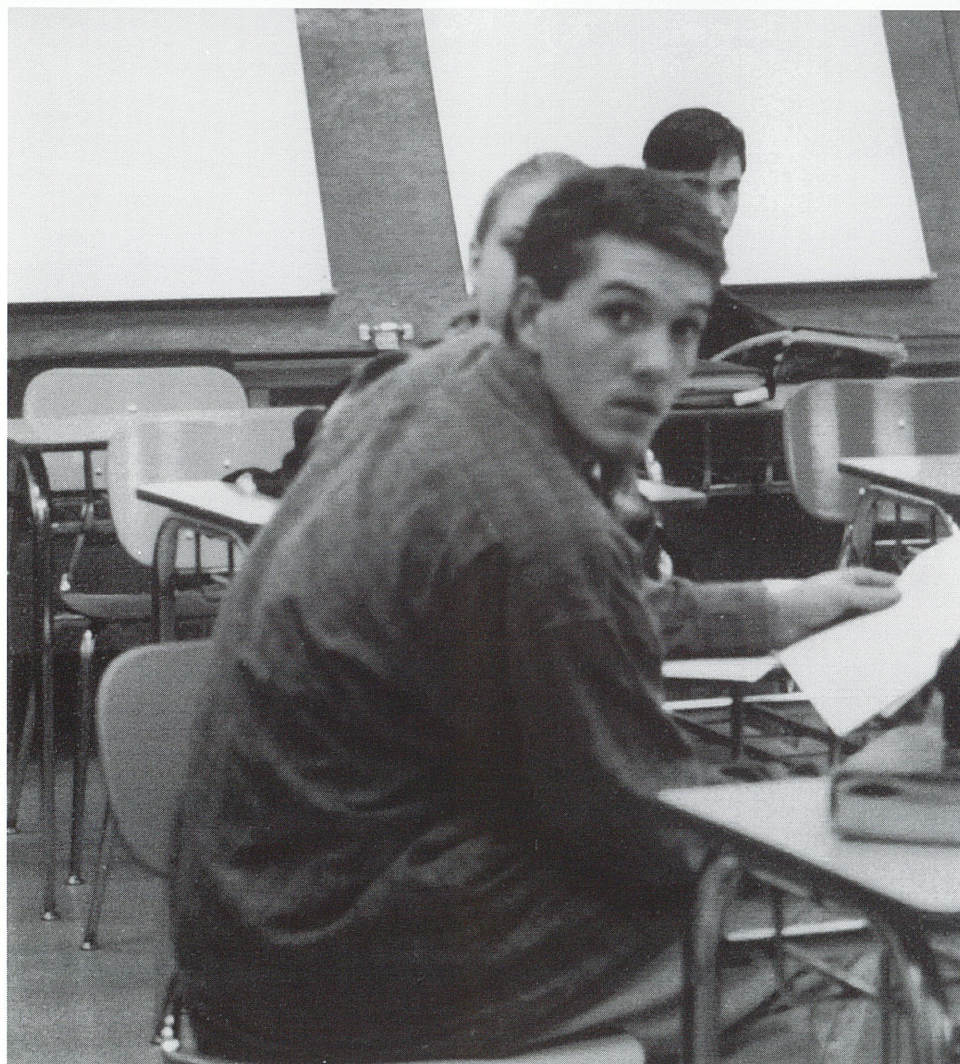

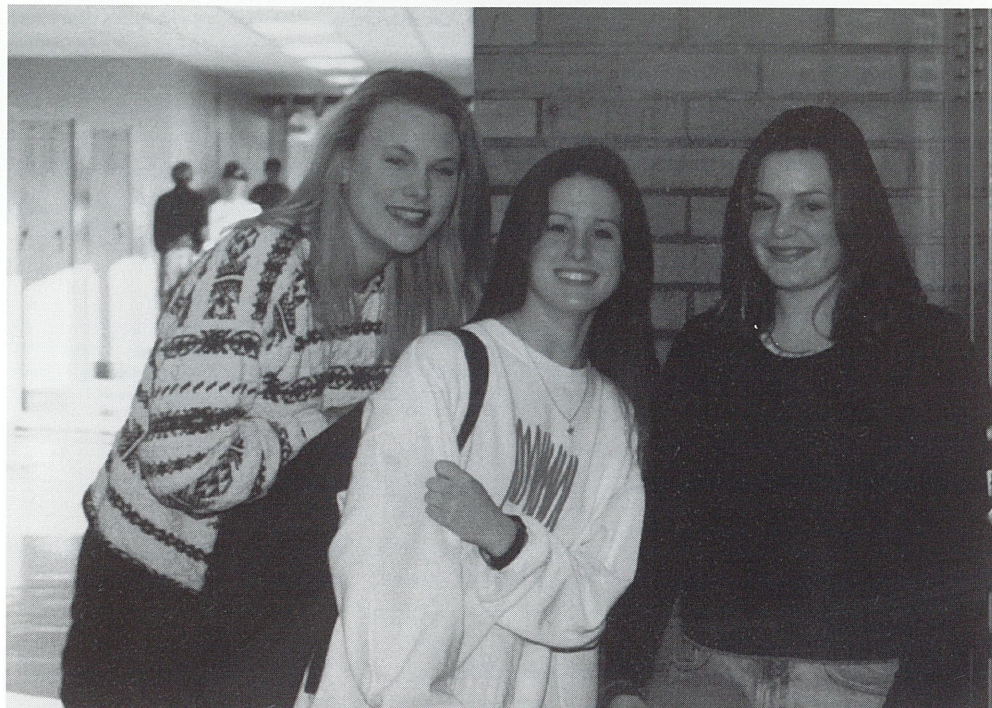

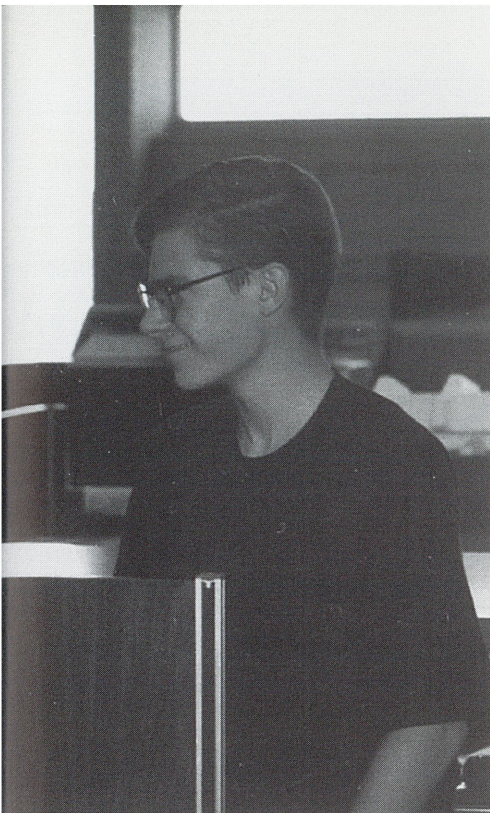

Card playing seems to be a favorite pasttime of these guys. Who's winning?

Life is truly a ride. We're all strapped in and no one can stop it. When the doctor slaps your behind, he's ripping your ticket and away you go. As you make each passage from youth to adulthood to maturity, sometimes you put your arms up and scream, sometimes you just hang on to that bar in front of you. But the ride is the thing. I think the most you can hope for at the end of life is that your hair's messed, you're out of breath, and you didn't throw up.

Kiski Area High School's first year with Taylor Publishing began with Taylor's annual Summer Yearbook Seminar at Seven Springs for a week during mid-August. The seminar was attended by Jennifer Jackson, editor-in-chief; Gayle Gardener, production editor; Jennifer West, business editor; Kelly Kamer, production editor; and Mrs. Kim Poleski, advisor. During the week, the five attendees learned many techniques, such as dominant pictures, horizontal eyelines, and how to write superb body copy, while working with other schools in attendance and learning the new process of computerizing the yearbook. The five worked on a trial-run, mock yearbook utilizing the theme, Unplugged. Some of the print fonts represented in this mock yearbook, as well as the final product, are Amazonia for the senior section, Reporter for all subheads, and Nouveau Gothic for body copy. The Campus consists of 240 pages with 48 pages printed in 4-color. The leather cover is White Vellum, silkscreened with blue #860 and gold glitz foil. The endsheets, like the cover, radiate the Unplugged theme; Randy Mellinger designed the endsheets. With 1000 copies printed, the 1995 Campus Yearbook, Kiski Area Unplugged, is a success, and each coming year's book will improve on this first venture with Taylor Publishing.
